CITY PLAN UP TO ABOLISH 4 MORE GRADE CROSSINGS

Ordinances All Ready for Council to Eliminate Peril on Wabash and Rock Island at Lindell, De Baliviere and Delmar Avenues and Skinker Road.

STREET ELEVATION OF FOUR FEET REQUIRED

Rock Island Engineer Favors Depression of Street and Raising of Tracks—Business Men's Views on City Sharing Cost.

Ordinances directing the Wabash and Rock Island railroads to abolish grade crossings at Lindell and De Baliviere avenue and Delmar boulevard and Skinker road, and the intervening streets, will be introduced in the Municipal Assembly Tuesday evening.

Two sets of ordinances will be sent in by the Board of Public Improvements, one providing that the city pay the consequential land damages to abutting property and the other providing that this cost be borne by the railroads, in addition to the expense of separating the grades.

The Board of Public Improvements favors the ordinances requiring the city to pay the consequential damages, believing that in the interest of humanity the grade crossings should be eliminated as quickly as possible without going into a long legal fight to determine whether the city or the railroads should pay the damages. Investigation of the Coroner's records recently by the Post-Dispatch showed that in the last five years 70 persons have been killed on railroad grades.

The railroads have agreed to build the grade crossings, provided the city would pay the land damages, which in most cases will be comparatively small.

Plans Submitted to Roads.

The plans and specifications for all the grade crossings have been submitted by the Board of Public Improvements to the officials of the Wabash and Rock Island railroads. The Wabash officials requested the board to elevate the city streets five feet at each grade crossing, but the city fixed the elevation at four feet in the ordinances. This difference of a foot amounts to a large sum of money for railroads, as the depressed tracks will have to go a foot deeper than they would under a five-foot elevated street.

The presentation of these ordinances is a part of a general plan to eliminate all the grade crossings in St. Louis. The board has already submitted an ordinance to abolish the Union avenue grade crossing of the Terminal Railroad Association. As rapidly as ordinances can be prepared the board will present bills for the abolition of all the grade crossings in St. Louis.

President Reber of the board told a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday that the attitude of the Rock Island has caused considerable delay in getting the ordinances to the Municipal Assembly.

The bills were ready for introduction ten days ago, but the Rock Island pleaded for more time to investigate. Chief Engineer Berry is now in St. Louis checking up the plans for the separation of the grades, as prepared by the Board of Public Improvements. He had an appointment for a conference with the Board in the afternoon.

Wants to Elevate Tracks.

It is probable that Berry will ask that the streets be depressed at the West End crossings, permitting the railroad tracks to be elevated. The board's plans provide for the elevation of the streets and the depression of the tracks.

The entire cost of depressing the tracks, according to the provisions of the ordinances, must be paid by the railroads. But if any damage has been done to abutting property by causing it to decrease in value the city must pay this, if the board's plan is adopted.

A majority of the members of the Municipal Assembly, in interviews with Post-Dispatch reporters, have declared themselves in favor of having the city pay the land damages, believing that to be the quickest and best way to get the grade crossings eliminated.

BUSINESS MEN'S VIEWS ON GRADES

Tell How They Stand on Proposition to Have City Share Cost of Abolishment.

OFFICERS of various civic and business organizations and women's clubs were interviewed Tuesday by Post-Dispatch reporters for their views on the abolition of grade crossings. They were asked whether they believed the city, for the sake of humanity and to avert long and expensive litigation, should agree to assume the consequential damages. Here are their opinions:

CHRISTIAN BERNET, President of the Merchants' Exchange: I am in

WOMEN IN FAVOR OF SEPARATE CROSSINGS

MRS. JOHN O'FALLON DELANEY

MRS. JOHN O'FALLON DELANEY, president of the St. Louis Woman's Club: You may say that I favor the abolition of grade crossings just as soon as they can be gotten rid of. No city as large as St. Louis should have such death traps. If forcing the railroads to assume all the expense means years of expensive litigation, it seems to me the better plan would be a compromise whereby the city pays part of the damages.

MRS. E. R. KROEGER, president of the Wednesday Club: I certainly wish the grade crossings could be abolished without delay.

NEEDED A SHAVE, SO HE ROBBED AN AUTO

Man Who First Had Said, Tearfully, That Mother Was Sick, Gets Two Years.

Thomas Wycoff, 30 years old, a lodging house resident, was before Judge Taylor in the Criminal Court Tuesday, charged with stealing a gold mesh bag valued at $500, a watch and $11 in cash from the automobile of Mrs. Louise Cole of 4564 West Pine boulevard. He pleaded guilty.

"Why did you do this?" asked the Court, sympathetically.

Wycoff's eyes began to fill with tears and the sobs seemed to choke his voice as he answered:

"Your honor, my mother was sick."

Wycoff studied the Judge's face to see what impression his pathetic plea had made, and, apparently not being satisfied, he shook off his sorrow and hastily added:

"And, your honor, I needed a shave."

JUSTIFIED IN KILLING DOG WHICH BIT HIM

Sergt. Hess Upholds Man Who Shot Unlicensed, Unmuzzled Animal Which Attacked Him.

If you are bitten by your neighbor's unlicensed and unmuzzled dog you are justified in taking your rifle and killing the dog, in the opinion of Police Sergeant Hess of the Dayton Street District.

The Police Sergeant made this ruling when Henry Gross of 3853 West Belle place was arrested and brought before him on a charge of killing a dog belonging to Walter Schmid of 3968 West Belle place.

Gross told Sergt. Hess that he was passing Schmid's home when the dog rushed out and bit him on the leg. He said he went to his home, got his 22-caliber rifle, and killed the dog.

6 OUT OF 13 MEN ARE ALIVE IN MINE

Pipe Drilled Into Fallen Earth by Michigan Rescuers Reveals Survivors.

IRONTON, Mich., May 14.—That 13 men who were buried in a cave-in at the Norris mine here last night, were instantly killed, was the belief when the bodies of two were found.

This afternoon a pipe was drilled into the fallen earth in the mine and six of the imprisoned men were found to be still alive. Every effort is being made to reach the men.

SUES SIX MONTHS' BRIDE BECAUSE OF HER WINE SUPPERS

Hal J. Struck, Drummer, Says Woman Went From One High Priced Hotel to Another.

NAMES AVIATOR GILL

Charges Wife Left Oklahoma City Because It Was "Too Slow Without Cafes."

After six months of married life Hal J. Struck, a traveling salesman, filed a divorce suit Tuesday against Helene Struck, alleging that she spent most of her time going from one high-priced hotel to another without his knowledge and boasted of going motoring and attending suppers where "champagne flowed like water."

The Strucks, according to the petition, have been residing recently at the Washington Hotel. Struck gives the date of their separation as May 14.

After their marriage, Nov. 11, 1911, Struck took his wife to the home of his parents in Oklahoma City and she remained there until Dec. 23, when she returned to her parents in St. Louis.

Christmas day, he alleges, she dined with Howard Gill, the aviator, a former admirer, and went with him to see "The Pink Lady," then playing at one of the theaters. Her mother upbraided her for this conduct, Struck says.

Went to Hotel Jefferson.

Howard Gill is an aviator of wide reputation. Mrs. Struck's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Otis Mallard of 5519 Vernon avenue.

Feb. 3 Mrs. Struck went from her father's home to the Hotel Jefferson, Struck alleges, and was joined there by her husband Feb. 15.

A few days later he took her back to Oklahoma City and departed for a three weeks' trip in Texas, but she again came back to St. Louis, he alleges, saying Oklahoma City was too slow because it had no cafes.

One day while her mother was out, Struck asserts, Mrs. Struck packed her trunk and moved to the Hotel Jefferson. She wrote to Struck for money, he alleges, and when he sent it she went to Chicago. Returning to the Jefferson, she telegraphed him that she had lost her pocketbook and must hav emore money.

BATTLE ON IN PARIS WITH AUTO BANDITS

Police Surround Chief of Notorious Band Near French Capital.

PARIS, May 14.—Another battle between the police and the automobile bandits who recently terrified Paris, is in progress at Nogent-Sur-Marne, four miles to the east of this city.

Garnier, the co-chief of Bonnot, who was killed with a companion at Choisy-Le-Roi on April 18, after a desperate fight, has been surrounded with a confederate named Vallet in a building near the railroad.

Ohio Legislator Objects, Thinking Bill Is for Girls' Finery.

BUCYRUS, O., May 14.—In the State constitutional convention at Columbus is a delegate from this section who, the story runs, arose in his committee recently to oppose a bill that he thought represented an expenditure for the personal decoration of the girls employed on stenographic work by the convention.

The bill was for $27 for typewriter ribbons. Its opponents' flow of language was shut off only when a colleague jerked him by the coattail to whisper the information that machines, not girls, wore the ribbons.

RICHESON TRIES TO GET TRUSTY TO BUY CYANIDE FOR HIM

Decision as to His Fate Due Today and It Is Feared He May Try to End Life.

PRISONER IS WATCHED

Has Been in Communication With Miss Violet Edmands, His Former Rich Fiancee.

TESTS APPLIED BY RICHESON ALIENISTS

BESIDES being made to sing and whistle by the three alienists appointed by Gov. Foss to examine Clarence V. T. Richeson, these additional physical tests were employed:

Knee caps tapped with silver hammers.

Blindfolded and made to jump, first on one foot and then on the other.

Pricked all over his body with a gold pin.

Eyelids twitched this way and that.

Forced to hold his hands extended, so that the trembling of the fingers might be observed.

Put through a brisk series of gymnastic "stunts."

Made to hop about the room, semi-nude.

Rigorously questioned on incidents of his life back to the time he was six years old.

Made to walk a tape stretched along the floor.

Made to squat down on his heels and then rise again, his eyes blindfolded, time after time.

Tapped on the tendon above the heel with the little silver hammer.

BOSTON, May 14.—With the decision as to the fate of the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the former St. Louisan, due today, extra precautions have been adopted in guarding the prisoner, due to a fear that he will try to cheat the electric chair, if Gov. Foss finds from the alienists' report that he is sane.

The vigilence is caused by the discovery that Richeson has recently tried to bribe a jail trusty to buy poison for him. An official in the case is authority for the statement that within a fortnight Richeson offered a man in the Charles street jail $100 if he would get for him a small vial of cyanide of potassium, the same deadly poison that Richeson bought from a Newton Center druggist and gave to Avis Linnell.

It was also learned today that Richeson has been in constant communication with Miss Violet Edmands since his arrest. He received a letter from Miss Edmands yesterday. She is still doing settlement work on the East Side in New York.

Death Chamber Ready.

The death chamber in Charlestown State Prison is in readiness to receive Richeson. The men who will accompany him there have been assigned. A few minutes before the time set to remove Richeson Sheriff Quinn will go to Richeson's cell and tell him that the change is to be made.

The prisoners in the tiers of cells through which Richeson must pass will be moved to other parts of the jail, so that he may be spared their jibes. A closed carriage will be used and the route probably will be down Charles street to the Charles River dam, thence to Prison Point street and the State Prison. Here Warden Bridges will officially receive Richeson, who will be quickly taken to the death house in the cell adjoining the electric chair.

After Gov. Foss had spent an hour and a half in going over the report of Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, the first alienist to examine Richeson, he took the report home to study it.

"I shall not be able to make a decision until I get the reports from Drs. Stedman, Frost and Tuttle," said Gov. Foss. "I expect these reports this morning, so that I will be able to decide on the matter soon after that."

Report of Examination.

Dr. Briggs was in conference with the Governor at the state house for an hour and a half. "The man's life is in the balance," said he solemnly. "I can't give even the faintest hint of my conclusions as to Mr. Richeson's mental condition. That is absolutely secret until the Governor wishes to make it public. I have submitted my report.

"It is typewritten and somewhat lengthy. In making a full and formal examination for insanity a certain formula has to be followed.

"At least ten hours ought to be devoted to such a task. That is the minimum and often it takes much longer. Such an ordeal is so trying for both the patient and the doctor that it is best to divide it. I visited Mr. Richson seven times and never spent less than two hours and a half with him each time.

"No matter what conclusions may be reached while progressing with an examination, one must go through with the full routine to meet legal requirements and be prepared to answer all the questions in court.

"It would not be well to admit that you didn't make such and such a re-

BROTHER'S LOVE FOR MRS. JAMES BROKE UP HOME

Mrs. Palmer, Sued, Went Out With Other Men Because Husband Was Attentive to Sister.

WILL NOT CONTEST CASE

Declares Doctor Lavished Money on Murder Defendant While She Was Neglected.

Mrs. Marie S. Palmer of 5222A Morganford road, who is being sued for divorce by Dr. James M. Palmer, in telling reporters Tuesday of her family troubles, offered the strange explanation that Dr. Palmer's great devotion to his sister, Mrs. Alma Palmer James, before and during Mrs. James' trial for killing her husband, was responsible in a measure for the Palmers' domestic discord.

"Mrs. James lived at our home from the time she killed her husband until two weeks before her baby was born," said Mrs. Palmer, "and my husband devoted himself to her so constantly that he seemed to have no time for me. Her past troubles and her coming trial occupied his thought all the time, and he did everything he could to make her forget the one and prepare for a successful outcome of the other. The result was that I finally got to feeling neglected, and decided to look out for myself."

Went Out With Other Men.

In reply to her husband's allegation that she had received attentions from other men, Mrs. Palmer said:

"It is true that I went out a few times with other men, because I could not bear the monotony of sitting at home all the time while Dr. Palmer devoted himself so constantly to his sister. He gave her all his leisure, and spent money lavishly to provide her with clothes, amusements and everything she wanted. Naturally, I became jealous, as I consider a man's wife his closest relative. I believe a man should love his sister, and do everything possible for her in time of trouble, but I do not think he should neglect his own family on that account."

Chester Sharp, whom Dr. Palmer names in his petition, is a young man in the tailoring business in Memphis, Mrs. Palmer said. He spent last summer in St. Louis, and Mrs. Palmer said she went out with him because she never could go out with her husband.

"The 'bathing suit' picture referred to by my husband in his petition, was made at Meramec Highlands," said Mrs. Palmer. "We had a swimming party there, and one of the men took a photograph of us in our bathing suits. It is nothing worse than happens thousands of times at every watering place every summer."

Says She Contemplated Suit.

Mrs. Palmer said she contemplated filing a divorce suit several months ago, but was urged by her husband to withhold the petition, as it might interfere with Mrs. James' trial. Her first intimation that he was suing, she said, came Monday after he had departed for his office.

"He called me by telephone," she said, "and told me he had left me, and filed a petition, making it as easy for me as possible."

Mrs. Palmer said she would not contest the suit. She is 23 years old. Her mother, she said, resides in North St. Louis.

Dr. Palmer, at 3353A South Jefferson avenue, where his office is, told a Post-Dispatch reporter he did not care to make any reply to comment from his wife.

THINKS MAN, DEAD AT ROPE'S END, IN PRAYER

Joseph Holly, 35 years old, strangled himself to death by fastening a rope around his neck between midnight and dawn Tuesday in his room at 1862 South Twelfth street. The body was discovered by Wentzel Holly, an uncle of the dead man. The uncle and nephew occupied the same room. Wentzel Holly said that when he awoke at 6 a. m. he noticed his nephew in a kneeling position at the foot of the bed. Believing the young man in prayer the uncle did not investigate until he saw the rope fastened about the nephew's neck and tied to a bed post.

Wentzel said Holly went to his room at midnight and retired. The nephew had been drinking, the uncle said, and was despondent because of his inability to quit liquor.

He also worried at being without employment.

Holly came to St. Louis from Bohemia about two years ago. He and his uncle were planning to return to that country June 11 to visit relatives.

MINNOWS STOP STEEL MILLS

GARY, Ind., May 14.—The steel mills here were temporarily stopped last night by thousands of tiny fish. The intake pipes supplying the mills with water became clogged by the little fish which had been driven to this end of Lake Michigan by the heavy sea.

Three blast furnaces were shut down until the water pipes were closed. The mains were opened and found to be choked with a wriggling mass of fresh water herring. The fish were removed with shovels and the furnace started again.

JERSEY COUNTY HUNTS WILD MAN OF OTTER CREEK

Search Redoubled Since Edward Vilmer, a Wood Chopper Was Attacked.

Search is being made in the timber along Otter Creek, in Jersey County, Ill., for a supposed wild man of the woods, who attacked Edward Vilmer, a wood-chopper, and tried to wrest his ax from him. The man of the woods has been seen at intervals in the last two years, Otter Creek residents say. Two mysterious deaths have occurred in remote parts of the county during that time, and as Otter Creek residents could find no other solution they have concluded that the man of the woods must be guilty and they are going to try to capture him.

when a scantily clad man rushed out of the underbrush, grappled with him, seized the handle of the ax and tried to get possession of it. Vilmer was stronger than the wild man, and, after a short struggle, the man released his hold and turned and ran away through the woods.

Hunters and others report having caught glimpses of the man, who is described as only half clad and with long hair.

The men whose deaths have not been explained were William Huske and William Stanhope. Huske lived alone in a cabin. His body was found lying in a red pool, about 50 yards from his cabin.

He had been struck in the back of the head and dragged from the cabin. The County Board of Supervisors offered a large reward for the capture of the murderer, but no clew was ever obtained.

Stanhope was a veteran school teacher, a bachelor, who lived alone in a cottage. His body was found in a ravine back from the road leading to his cottage in six inches of water.

After the burial of Stanhope his cottage was set afire and burned to the ground.

A few months ago an insane man was captured in Western Jersey County. He had been living in the woods, gnawing the bark from the roots of trees, grubbing with his hands for roots and living on these and the raw flesh of birds. He was sent to the insane asylum at Jacksonville.

Reports of the appearance of another in the Otter Creek country has caused apprehension among the residents there.

HAIRDRESSER AND CATERER IN DOLLAR AND SCENT BATTLE

Florian De Donato Accused of Using Bottle to Resent Charles Rebman's Bill.

Dollars and scents were involved in personal encounter which caused the names of Florian de Donato, hair dresser, and Charles Rebman, caterer, to appear on the docket of the Clark Avenue Police Court, Tuesday.

When Rebman went to collect a bill from De Donato at his hair-dressing parlor in the basement of the Carleton Building, at Sixth and Olive streets, Monday evening, he was struck on the head with a scent bottle, according to the excited statement which he made to Patrolman Ayres of the traffic squad.

Accumulates a New Bump.

Rebman ran from the basement hair-dressing parlor and asked Ayres to feel his head. He said there was a bump on it which wasn't there when he went into De Donato's.

Leading the policeman into the hair-dressing parlor, Rebman pointed out De Donato as the man who caused the bump by hitting him on the head with a bottle of perfume.

De Donato admitted that there had been an encounter, but denied dressing Rebman's hair with a bottle. He said that Rebman had insulted him in demanding payment of a bill.

Rebman denied using insulting language, but said that he made a proposition to lick everybody in the place—strangle-holds and perfume bottles to be barred.

Both Taken to Police Station.

De Donato insisted that Rebman be arrested, too. Both were taken to police headquarters, where they preferred cross-charges of disturbing the peace. Both were released on bond.

"I went to collect a bill and was attacked," said Rebman to a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday. No statement could be obtained from De Donato.

LID CLUB MANAGER FINED AND PAROLED

Charged With Selling Liquor to Minor When Woman Was Found in Place.

John G. Oldendorff, manager of the Wayne Club, at Eighteenth street and Washington avenue, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Falkenhainer Tuesday on a charge of selling liquor to a minor, but the Judge paroled him when he assured the Court that the club was out of business.

The Wayne Club was raided by the police several weeks ago. Mrs. Lottie Hoffman, a bride of a few months, was found unconscious in the club with two young men. She said she had been given knockout drops in candy she ate downtown, but the police said she had been drinking. Frank Haberstrah, 4322 Gravois avenue, one of the young men with the woman, was only 19 years old. Oldendorff was arrested for selling drinks to him.

ASYLUM SLAYING REVEALS INQUIRY INTO ATTENDANTS

Dr. Johns, Sanitarium Superintendent, at Inquest Over Patrick O'Connell, Beaten to Death by Fellow Patient, Tells of Investigating Stories of Nurses and Physicians of Carousing.

TRAGEDY IN WARD POORLY GUARDED

Man Crushes Another's Skull With a Washbowl—Guard in Charge Had to Look Out for 86 Patients in Two Halls.

Coincident with the killing of one patient by another at the city sanitarium, the third tragedy of its kind there within a year, it developed, Tuesday, that Dr. George A. Johns, the Superintendent, has been conducting a secret investigation into the conduct of certain physicians, nurses and attendants at the asylum.

Rumors that the persons suspected had been guilty of carousing, keeping unseemly hours, returning late at night from dances, intoxicated, taking time from their duties and spooning in a vacant ward, were the basis of the investigation.

An admission that such an inquiry had been made was obtained by a Post-Dispatch reporter from Dr. Johns at the inquest into the death of Patrick J. O'Connell, who was fatally beaten Sunday night by his roommate, Bernard Dieckmann.

Conceals Names of Suspects.

Dr. Johns said he had investigated complaints that some of his subordinates at the sanitarium had been guilty of improper conduct, but declined to say who made the complaints or who was under suspicion. His inquiry, he said, had been cursory and had failed so far to reveal anything definitely.

No one has been asked to resign, he said, and the investigation probably will proceed no further, unless specific complaints are made or new evidence develops.

Dr. Johns said a lack of attendants at the sanitarium is to be held responsible for O'Connell's death. There are only 21 night attendants for 48 wards, he said, although one attendant to each ward is necessary to the safe and efficient conduct of the institution.

The action of the Municipal Assembly in delaying appropriations for additional facilities at the sanitarium has been the subject of much public criticism from officials and physicians.

O'Connell, who was 29 years old, was attacked by Dieckmann at 10:40 p. m. and died two hours later in the hospital division of the asylum while four physicians worked over him. Death was caused by concussion of the brain, Dr. Johns testified.

Attendant's Testimony.

John Nalty, attendant in charge of the ward, testified he was some distance away when he heard a disturbance in the room occupied by O'Connell and Dieckmann. Running to the room, he saw O'Connell lying unconscious in bed and Dieckmann standing over him with a heavy wash bowl in his hands. Nalty said he grappled with Dieckmann until other attendants heard the disturbance and came to his assistance.

Dr. Johns testified he was called to the hospital division about 11 p. m. and found O'Connell unconscious. In response to questions from Deputy Coroner Carirere, Dr. Johns said Dieckmann had been a patient there since 1899 and never had shown signs of violence. He was allowed to do odd jobs.

Dieckmann is 60 years old. He was sent to the sanitarium from St. Louis County. O'Connell was married. He was committed Dec. 11, 1911, from 4320 Cook avenue, a victim of paresis.

Nalty, the testimony showed, had charge of two halls with a total of 86 patients. This number, according to Dr. Johns, is almost twice as great as should be entrusted to one attendant.

Dr. Johns told reporters the other accidents at the institution also were due principally to lack of sufficient attendants.

Police Learn of Tragedy.

The fact that O'Connell had been beaten to death was not known at police headquarters until 7:30 p. m. Monday. The police attribute this to the action of the Coroner's office in leisurely reporting at 1:30 p. m. Monday that Patrick J. O'Connell, a patient at the sanitarium was dead.

Headquarters, supposing this merely was a routine report of death from a natural cause, telephoned the Mounted District Station and Patrolman Walton was sent to the sanitarium for a report. He returned with the news that O'Connell had been killed by Dieckmann.

Other Tragedies of Sanitarium.

The other tragedies were: James Schmerber, 42 years old, was beaten and killed in his room by George Bagley, 45 years old, his roommate, March 7, 1912. Mrs. Eva Jarsonbek, who formerly lived at 1534 North Tenth street, was strangled to death in one of the

MAN PICKED UP IN STREET FILLS THE STUDIO CASE JURY

Deputy Goes Outside Court When Panel Is Exhausted and Completes the 12.

MRS. SCHANOT IN COURT

Chief Witness Against Baker Paler and Thinner Than at Previous Hearing.

The jury to try Sidney Baker on a charge of murdering Peter Waeltz was completed at 11:35 a. m. Tuesday. After the panel had been exhausted, Judge Hadley of the Belleville Circuit Court, where the case is being tried, ordered a Deputy Sheriff to go out into the street and bring in the first man he met.

He returned a few minutes later with David Charles, who qualified as a juror. The other members of the jury are John Hohn, John Schroeder, Edward Nold, Louis Klein, John Biebel, Philip Lang Jr., H. J. Schmale, Warren Hammill, Walter Fullmer, Julius Mueller and Frederick Szelskia.

Mrs. Nellie Morton Schanot was in court ready to testify for the State.

Mrs. Schanot, who at the time of the killing, Nov. 22, 1908, was Miss Nellie Morton, is visibly nervous as time for appearing against Baker approaches. She is paler and thinner than she was last February when she was tried and acquitted on the same charge which Baker now faces. At that time the same jury which freed Mrs. Schanot voted 11 to 1 for Baker's conviction.

Nellie Morton was employed as an assistant by Baker in his photograph gallery at Belleville. Waeltz, a rich Lenzburg, Ill., farmer, went to the gallery to drink with Baker and to be entertained.

After hours of carousal Waeltz was found dead at the foot of a stairway leading from the gallery in the Stookey Building. Baker and Miss Morton could not be found.

Miss Morton was arrested when she returned to Belleville two days later. She said she had seen Baker administer chloroform to Waeltz as he lay on a couch in a drunken stupor.

Later Miss Morton repudiated this statement and said she wasn't in the gallery on the night of Waeltz's death. She was released. A year later she married Henry Schanot of Mascoutah.

Baker was arrested in Danville, Ill., several months ago. New evidence caused the authorities to rearrest Mrs. Schanot. She could not testify against Baker at their trial in February, as she also was a defendant.

Shrieks Call Attendant.

Nalty, the attendant, was attracted to the room occupied by O'Connell and Dieckmann by shrieks. He rushed into the room and found Dieckmann standing over O'Connell. Nalty seized Dieckmann and struggled with him until other attendants came to his aid.

He was overpowered and placed in a single room. O'Connell was taken to the surgical ward, where Drs. Johns, Babler, Wachenfeld and Keim worked over him for two hours, trying to save his life. O'Connell never regained consciousness.

The tragedy was not reported to the police until 18 hours after the death. The report of Capt. James Hickmann of the Mounted District was received at police headquarters at 7:20 p. m. Monday.

ST. LOUIS ATTORNEY EXPECTS A BIG FEE

W. L. Sturdevant Was Counsel for Woman in Indian Land Tax Case.

W. L. Sturdevant, an attorney in the Central National Bank Building, expects to receive a large fee for his services as counsel for Mrs. Bessie Brown English, in a suit to restrain H. T. Richardson, County Treasurer of Tulsa, Ok., from collecting taxes on land allotted her by the Government.

A decision in favor of Sturdevant's client was handed down by the United States Supreme Court, Monday. The suit was a test case and the total amount saved to the Indians by this decision is estimated by Sturdevant at $20,000,000.

The decision denies the county's right to tax Indian lands.

favor of abolishing at once the grade crossings which already have claimed a big death toll, to say nothing of the destruction of personal property. I do not believe the city ought to stand on the question of a little expense. I believe the city should pay the conseqential damages, even if justice should demand that it be paid by the railroads, and thus avoid years of delay and costly litigation. St. Louis ought not wait.

OTTO F. KARBE, Secretary of the Million Population Club: I am opposed to the city paying any part of the expense for abolishing the grade crossings. I believe the railroads ought to change the crossings and pay every cent of the cost. There is no justice in the city paying the consequential damages. The railroads can afford to bear the entire burden—it will mean money in their pockets in the long run. St. Louis ought not to give way to them in this, but should fight. If it be true that 75 or 100 persons might be killed before the matter is settled, it is greatly to be regretted. But we have been standing this a long while already, and might stand it a little while longer rather than give way in this matter.

FRED C. LAKE, President of the Associated Retailers: I favor the abolition of grade crossings as quickly as it can be done. As a city, we have progressed far beyond the point where such dangers to life and property should be countenanced. I believe we should reach some plan which will be fair and equitable and will impose no hardships on either side.

A. R. SCHOLLMEYER, President of the Real Estate Exchange: This is a vital question which, in my opinion, should be settled at once by the abolition of the grade crossings. They are a menace and a nuisance, exposing us to both danger and delay. One who has stood at the Union avenue crossing on Lindell boulevard and waited for a long train to pass will appreciate my reference to the loss of time. Our committee, however, has reported in favor of having the railroads bear all the expense.

ED. DAMMANN, President of the St. Louis Retail Grocers' Association: The city and the railroads should get together on this question and abolish grade crossings at once. Personally, I do not think the city should pay a cent toward the expenses, but if it will avert complicated legal proceedings and years of delay, let us pay and have these death traps disposed of.

ERNEST W. NAGEL, Secretary of the Southwestern Mercantile Association: There is no question as to the desirability of abolishing grade crossings and doing it just as soon as possible. Under the caption, "Are We Waiting For This?" the Post-Dispatch recently printed a cartoon showing a collision between a locomotive and a street car at a grade crossing, and I have been watching the news columns daily in the dread that such an accident would be reported. I favor a compromise to prevent delays. If we can get prompt action by having the city bear the consequential damages, let us pay. Human life certainly is more precious than the small amount of money the abolition of the crossings would cost us. If, for instance, 10 lives were lost in a grade crossing accident, who would say they were not worth more than all the city would be required to pay for the consequential damages of abolition?

DR. L. W. SCHERMANN, First Vice-President of the Central Council of Civic Associations: Everybody, I believe, agrees that the grade crossings should be abolished immediately. I believe the only way the city can bring about abolition of the crossings is by sharing the expense. I would favor a plan to have the consequential damages of the work assumed by the city.

[illegible] WERTHEIMER, President of the St. Louis Shoe Manufacturers and Jobbers' Association: The grade crossings should be abolished, and I favor having the city bear part of the expense. I do not consider this right or just, but it certainly would be preferable to years of litigation. If the railroads will not pay all the damages, the city should help, because it is so necessary that the work be done at once. This is my personal opinion, and I want it made clear that I am not speaking for the association.

JOSEPH JOERING, President of the St. Louis Furniture Board of Trade: It seems to me the city should bear its share of the burden. If we want to build up the city, we must encourage all forms of business, including the railroads, and we cannot do that by loading them with obligations they cannot reasonably meet. To avert litigation and to hasten the day when our city will be free of the dangerous crossings, I would favor the plan of having the city pay a reasonable share of the expense.

H. W. WISHMEYER, President of the North St. Louis Business Men's Association: In my opinion, the grade crossings should be abolished immediately, and the railroads should bear every cent of the expense. The roads get all kinds of valuable privileges from the city without compensation. They have spent millions of dollars, and have conformed with the laws, too, in order to enter New York City, but they are unwilling to spend a dollar out here. I am of the compromising kind, however. I would rather have half a loaf than nothing. If we have at last reached the stage where corporations can successfully defy us, let us make the best terms we can for our own safety. We must get rid of the grade crossings without any more delay than is necessary, from humanity's standpoint.

JOHN E. TURNER, President of the West St. Louis Business Men's Association: I heartily favor immediate abolition of the grade crossings, and believe the city should assume a part of the expense. If we do not reach an agreement with the railroads, and they decide to fight in the courts, it might be years before the crossings could be done away with. In the meantime, these dangers to life and limb would remain to be reckoned with every day. The best plan is the one that will bring quick action without imposing unnecessary burdens on any one.

ECZEMA CURED IN 10 TO 30 DAYS. The Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo., manufacturers of Laxative Bromo Quinine, have a new and wonderful discovery, Grove's Sa-Nare Cutis, which they guarantee to cure any case of eczema, no matter of how long standing, in 10 to 30 days, and will refund money if it fails. Grove's Sa-Nare Cutis is perfectly clean and does not stain. If your druggist hasn't it, send us 50c in stamps and it willl be sent by mail.

Senator Bailey Recovered.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Senator Bailey of Texas, who had been absent several weeks, has returned to the Senate, recovered from his illness.

Richeson Guarded to Prevent Attempt to Take Own Life

flex. I made my examination as complete and exacting as I knew how, and my report is as thorough as it was possible for me to make it. I covered every possible phase.

"I supplemented it with photographs and measurements. Not only do I note abnormal features, but normal ones as well if I conclude they will add light or value to my report."

Whistles and Sings in Test.

The three other alienists who are to report to Gov. Foss returned to the Charles street jail yesterday afternoon and Richeson submitted to further tests as to his sanity.

When the trio of alienists questioned Richeson, the tests included the following:

"Mr. Richeson, can you sing?" asked one of the doctors.

"Oh, yes," replied Richeson, "I can sing."

"Will you sing for us?"

"Certainly. "What shall I sing?"

"Oh, anything."

Then Richeson sang two verses of an old love song in a low, but clear voice.

"Where did you learn that song?" he was asked.

"I was taught it when I studied elocution," he replied.

"Can you whistle?"

"Yes, I can whistle," replied the condemned man with a smile.

"Will you please whistle for us?"

Richeson whistled softly a verse of a hymn. It was one of the most familiar of the church hymns.

Physical Tests Made.

There were many physical tests. At the end of seven hours of the examination, the long strain broken only by a recess for lunch, Richeson walked steadily to his room, with hope and confidence in his haggard face.

Dr. O. G. Gilley, physician at the Charles street jail, where Richeson is confined, said:

"The prisoner is absolutely sane, but give the alienists time enough and they will make him insane, just as they would any man.

"He stood the tests in an admirable manner, but too much of that kind of stuff will surely have its effect.

"No man can stand a continuous program of experts putting him up day after day for this and that kind of an examination.

"These alienists are good fellows, and I'm glad they are to pass on Richeson. I 'lit out' the minute I say them coming; so I don't know what went on. I don't see, though, howthey can reach but one conclusion, and that is that Richeson is sane.

"They may drive him insane and cause him to break down if they keep at it's long enough. I have Richeson's health in my care, and not one man in 13,000 could stand the strain of the examination as he has done. He shows no sign of a breakdown yet, though he may if they keep at him. They are trying hard enough to show him insane, and employing enough doctors.

"To my mind a man insane or inclining to insanity would be made more violent or more insane by examining him long enough. Richeson so far is a wonder. He is calm and matter-of-fact and smokes a cigar after they get all through with him. To my mind that's enough to indicate his sanity."

The Newest Things in Jewelry

Can Always Be Found Here

We are now presenting a few radical changes from the prevailing styles of jewelry worn during the past Fall and Winter. Of the many charming novelties now being launched we mention a few of them, as follows:

Among the most interesting articles are the new Lorgnons and Chains. One of the latest fads is the ribbon for the lorgnon, which is from ½ to ¾ inch in width and made of moire or grosgrain silk and broken by handsome rhinestone ornaments. The length is about 28 inches, and they are of exceedingly smart apperance. Prices $7.00 to $8.00

Lorgnons in gunmetal—plain or silver applied $3.50 to $10

Among the Lorgnons one is forcibly impressed by the number of new conceptions. They are exceptionally dainty in their varying outlines and sizes. We have them of solid gold in English, Roman, engraved and engine-turned finishes, and they sell from $16.50 to $28

Sterling Silver, set with rhinestones—exact duplicates of the platinum and diamond ones, at $15.00

Sterling Silver Lorgnons, with stones $7.00 to $15.00

A New Fashion in Rings

Rings continue to be broad and of irregular shape, a dominating note being the presence of a large, handsome baroque pearl with an edge here and there fashioned in the most graceful curves. These are finished in green or rose gold. Prices $5.50 to $25.00

Buy "Aerolux" Porch Shades

For Real Comfort

You can make a living room of your porch this Summer if it is fitted with Aerolux Porch Shades, like those illustrated.

The Aerolux Shade will keep out the sun, but admit the air. It is the only shade with patent reinforcements and adjustable guys that prevent the shade whipping in the wind. They are particularly fine for sleeping porches and may be had in a variety of weather-proof colors.

Prices range upward, according to size, from $2.50

In addition to the above we are showing the Imported German Waldo Web Porch Shade in an excellent range of colorings.

HOUSE O K MAKES DIRECT VOTE SURE ON U. S. SENATORS

Thirty-Six States Must Ratify Amendment to Constitution and More Than That Number Already Have Signified Their Approval of the Arrangement.

SENATE MEASURE FOUGHT AT FIRST

Plan Has Been Before Congress at Various Times Since 1826 and Present Resolution Was Introduced by Bristow in 1911.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The incorporation into the Constitution of the United States of an amendment providing for the election of Senators by direct vote of the people is assured.

By 237 to 39—far more than the necessary two-thirds of a quorum—the House voted to recede from its version of the direct elections resolution and to concur in the Senate's version.

The measure requires the approval of 36 states, three-fourths of the total of 48. More than this number have already signified their approval, but only 31 have passed the proper resolutions required by the Constitution for its amendment.

State's Action to Settle It.

When enough more states have made the legal ratification, it will become part of the Constitution.

The action was preceded by a bitter fight, in which the Southern members joined common cause against the resolution.

Led by Representative Bartlett of Georgia, the Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana delegation fought to prevent its passage, because of the Senate's action which gave the Federal Government supervision of the elections. They based their opposition almost entirely on the danger of negro domination.

The first vote taken was on an amendment by Representative Bartlett which took from the Federal Government all supervisory powers. It was defeated, 189 to 88. On the vote for the adoption of the resolution, two-thirds of the House being necessary, 50 Democrats deserted.

Republicans All for It.

There was not a single Republican vote cast against the resolution which was adopted to the accompaniment of thunderous applause.

Direct election of Senators was first taken up by Congress in 1826. From time to time recurring attempts have been made to make the Senate a popular body and have its members elected as are the members of the House. Numbers of these resolutions have died in committee, while others were passed at the last moments of a Congress never to receive the President's signature.

Senator Bristow of Kansas introduced in 1911 the one that passed today.

"ADVERTISING LEMONS"

St. Louis Banker to Speak on Subject in Mississippi.

R. L. Gurney, manager of the savings department of the Commonwealth Trust Co., left Monday for Gulfport, Miss., to attend the convention of the Mississippi Bankers' Association, talk to the members about "Advertising Lemons" and try to convince them that the only kind of advertising for bankers that has permanent value is that carried in newspapers. Since giving his "Lemon" talk before the Missouri bankers at Sikeston last year, Gurney is more convinced than ever that newspaper advertising is the only kind worth while.

Gurney's address will be illustrated with stereopticon slides showing many of the advertisements used by the Commonwealth Trust Co. in the St. Louis newspapers. Gurney will make stops at Nashville, Montgomery, Birmingham, Mobile, New Orleans and Memphis.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

Fire Destroys J. Gross' Home.

The explosion of a gasoline stove started a fire which destroyed the home of Joseph Gross at 2538 Robin avenue Tuesday. Mrs. Gross, with her children, was in the yard when the stove exploded. The loss was $1000 on the house and $300 on the furniture.

WOMEN CASTING HEAVY CALIFORNIA VOTE ON PRESIDENT

Bright Weather Brings Out Many for Early Balloting in Preference Primary.

Roosevelt Wears His Old Farmer's Clothes to Ohio

NEW YORK, May 14.

WHEN Theodore Roosevelt left Oyster Bay for Ohio he was attired in his farm clothes. A black suit, unpressed, a shabby-appearing dark gray overcoat, and about his third-best broad-brimmed black hat made up his farmer costume.

Close acquaintances of Roosevelt have often remarked that he changes his makeup to suit varied kind of audiences, and often have made guesses as to what he might say in a speech by what he wore.

CONCORD, N. H., May 14.—Speaker Champ Clark was declared the choice of the New Hampshire Democrats for the presidency at the state convention of the party here today.

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Clear, bright weather throughout the State and early reports of many votes cast at all points, indicated a heavy vote today at California's first presidential preferential primary election. Five tickets of 26 candidates each are in the field, Taft, Roosevelt and La Follette heading the groups on the Republican ballot and Wilson and Clark on the Democratic. Votes of the lately enfranchised women are being polled in large numbers.

With the exception of the Taft candidates, all would-be delegates filed with the Secretary of State pledges to vote in convention for the candidates in whose column they appear on the ballot, in accordance with a provision of the primary law making such pledges optional.

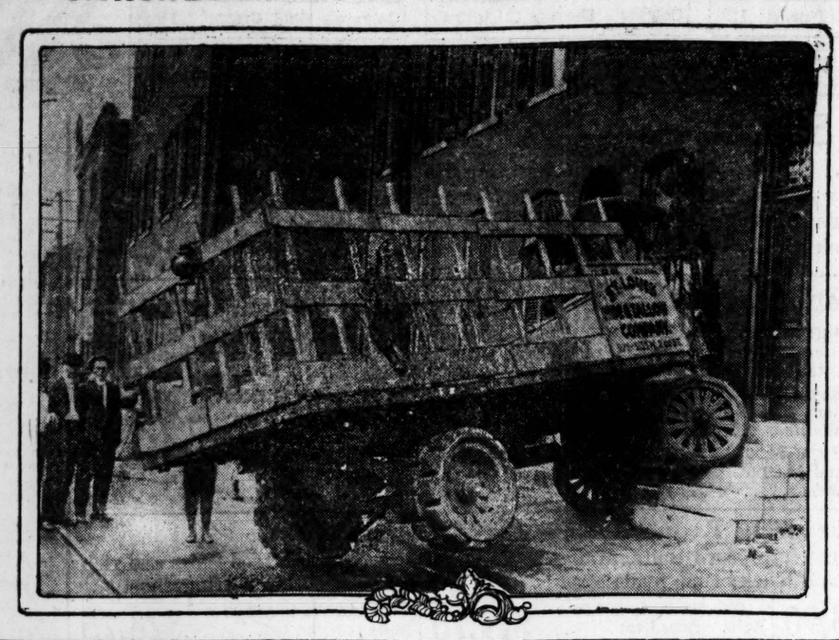
The discovery a few days ago that the Taft delegates were unpledged caused Roosevelt supporters to charge a plot to evade the provisions of the law and obtain one or two delegates, in the event of Roosevelt carrying the State, but it is not clear that the provisions of the law would make this possible.

The entire list of delegates is being voted on throughout the State, although selected by twos from each congressional district, with four chosen at large. Four women appear in each list of candidates, except that of Wilson. A number of women have been appointed on the election boards.

The results today will be final, and there will be no State conventions.

Overnight betting on the result was a bit better than 2 to 1 that Roosevelt would win the State's indorsement and its 26 delegates to the Chicago convention; even money that he would carry San Francisco and even money that his plurality would reach 20,000.

HOW AUTO TRUCK CLIMBED FOUR STEPS AND SMASHED INTO THE WINDOW OF A DWELLING



Taft Declares T. R. Dangerous Man to Put in White House

COLUMBUS, O., May 14.

I THINK it would be dangerous to put a man with Mr. Roosevelt's constitutional status and the intoxication he would necessarily feel by reason of getting something that all the great presidents have never gotten—it would not be safe to put him in the White House again.

I beg of you to ask him when he comes here whether he would take a fourth term, ask him whether he is going to take a fifth term, and why he should not continue in office during his life.

My friends, it is a dangerous thing to put him in the White House for a third term with his views of the constitution and with his views of himself.

In every anouncement he makes you would think he was the whole show and that there wasn't anybody else in the country. It's I, I, I—Roosevelt likens himself to Abraham Lincoln more and resembles him less than any man in the history of this country.

I hold that man a demagogue and a flatterer who comes out and tells the people they know it all. I hate a flatterer.

T. R. IN OHIO SAYS TAFT, PROGRESSIVE ONCE, HAS CHANGED

Declares President Ran on the Roosevelt Record and Cannot in Honor Assail It.

By Associated Press.

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 14.—Several thousand persons gathered in front of the courthouse in Steubenville to hear Col. Roosevelt today.

"Our opponents contend against the bread-and-butter brigade," said the Colonel. "We have to contend against the big bosses and the special interests. I wish to see Ohio take the lead, as it took the lead in its extraordinary vote in 1904, when I was running for President.

"I see that yesterday Mr. Taft alluded to me as a demagogue and an egotist. That will not tempt me to any retaliation in kind. But I want to point out that four years ago Mr. Taft had not discovered these things about me. I stand now where I did then. I have not changed my position. I preach exactly what I preached four years ago, and Mr. Taft didn't oppose it then."

Col. Roosevelt went on to say that four years ago "every big boss" was against Mr. Taft, but that now they were all for him.

"We, who believe in the right of the people to rule," he said, "are against Mr. Taft. The bosses haven't changed. We have not changed. Mr. Taft has changed. He has left the cause of progressives and has gone over to the side for which the bosses fought. The bosses have studied Mr. Taft and have made up their minds that he is just their kind.

"He no longer stands for the cause for which Lincoln stood. He may call me every epithet he chooses, but I am just the same as I was four years ago, when he could not say enough for me. Mr. Taft can attack me for any of my public acts, but he ran four years ago on the record of my administration and he is estopped from assailing me on the record of my administration of which he was a part. He can not now with honor turn and oppose acts of the administration while he was in the cabinet."

President Taft Making Tour of Six Counties in Ohio.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 14.—Encouraged by his reception along the eastern line of Ohio yesterday, President Taft started in today on the second day of his present campaign tour of his home State.

Mr. Taft spent the night in his private car in Steubenville, but left there early today, to the blowing of steamboat and factory whistles, for the north and west. His schedule for the day called for visits to six counties.

Roosevelt Controls Third Kansas District.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., May 14.—Controlled overwhelmingly by supporters of Col. Roosevelt's candidacy for President, the Third District Republican Congressional convention met here today to name two delegates to the Republican National convention. William Allen White of Emporia, whose election already is assured, will be indorsed for National Committeeman. It was said the several progressives who have announced themselves as candidates for the seat in Congress now held by P. P. Campbell, planned to get together and decide upon one of their number to make the race against Campbell, who is a so-called stand-patter.

Champ Clark Reasonably Certain to Get New Mexico Delegation.

CLOVIS, N. M., May 14.—It is reasonably certain that the Democratic State convention, which meets here today at noon, will send New Mexico's first eight delegates to a national gathering to Baltimore instructed for Champ Clark.

Wyoming Delegations Are Instructed for Taft and Clark.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 14.—In their State conventions here the Republicans instructed for President Taft, the Democrats for Champ Clark "as long as there is a possibility of his nomination." Wyoming sends six delegates to each national convention.

LABOR AGENT IS FINED

Peter Yapkins, proprietor of an employment agency at Ninth and Market streets, was fined $50 by Judge Falkenhainer Tuesday for obtaining money under false pretenses.

It was charged that Yapkins was accepting money from laborers, promising to get them work, and not fulfilling his promises. The fine was reduced to $10 on his promise that he would close the employment agency.

Utah Expects to Send an Uninstructed Delegation.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 14.—The personnel of the delegation to Baltimore and the election of a National Committeeman, gave early evidence of overshadowing the choice of a presidential candidate at the Democratic State convention here today. Leading Democrats said no instructions would be given, and they expressed doubt as to whether the delegates would decide as to how their votes will be cast until they enter the national convention.

AUTO TRUCK RUNS UP STEPS, BUTTS INTO RESIDENCE

Machine Knocks Down Horse and When Driver Loses Control Hits Dwelling.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagoner of 1313 North Twelfth street thought an earthquake was rocking the neighborhood when they were awakened at 5:20 a. m. Tuesday by a crash that shook their house to its foundations.

Picking up their 6-year-old son, Fred, they ran into the front room to see what was the matter. The room was filled with the dust of falling plaster.

The floor was littered with pieces of plastering and brick. Looking through the front window thew saw a big white automobile truck nosing against the outside wall of the house. It had smashed the window and torn a small hole in the wall.

What had happened was marked by an unusual combination of the number 13. The house at 1313 North Twelfth street, belonged to a woman, who lived at 1313 North Eleventh street, and had been rammed by a motor vehicle bearing license tag 1313.

A frightened negro on the seat of the truck was staring through the window. Mrs. Wagoner ran back into her bedroom, closely followed by her husband and son.

Horse Run Over by Truck.

To add to the confusion, the neighs of a wounded horse in the street sounded to those in the house like the cries of a human being. The horse had been run over by the truck when the machine caromed off an ice wagon and into the side of the house.

The truck belongs to the St. Louis Hide and Tallow Co., 5125 North Second street, and was driven by Mackey Williams, 625 Holly avenue, a negro. The ice wagon belonged to the Square Deal Ice Co., 3741 Lucky street, and was driven by William Wilhite, 1805 Prairie avenue.

By the time Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner had left their home by a back door, policemen had arrived and arrested Williams. He said he was driving south on Twelfth street, about eight miles an hour, and the ice wagon was in front of him, going in the same direction. He sounded his horn and started to pass the wagon, turning to the left as he did so, in accordance with the traffic laws.

He told the police that as he turned Wilhite also turned to the left. The forward wheels of the truck struck a front wheel of the wagon and one of the horses, knocking the animal down and passing over it.

Jerked Wheel From Hand.

The jar threw Williams back in his seat, he said, jerked the steering wheel from his hand and caused his foot to leave the clutch. The huge truck swung around at a right angle, ran across the street and into the house at No. 1313.

One of the wheels of the truck ran up three or four stone steps in front of the house.

The damaged house is the property of Mrs. Gertrude Hannibal, 1313 North Eleventh street.

HARRY—Father will consent if you get the diamond ring from Loftis Bros. on credit.

Nevada Contest Between Clark and Wilson.

RENO, Nev., May 14.—In the Democratic primaries being held through Nevada today to elect delegates to the State convention at Fallon on June 3, rivalry is almost exclusively between the adherents of Speaker Clark and Gov. Wilson. Provision had been made for an informal expression of preference for presidential nomination on the primary ballot.

Sugar Trust Hearing Begun.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The taking of testimony in the Government's dissolution suit against the American Sugar Refining Co. was begun there today before Special Examiner Wilson B. Brice.

Climate Failed—Medicine Effective

Rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from Tuberculosis, but, to be honest, it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed. Eckman's Alterative is a medicine made for the treatment of Tuberculosis. It has arrested this disease again and again, and for that reason we argue and urge that Eckman's Alterative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis, in addition to good, nourishing food and fresh air, which we all need.

The facts—the evidence of recoveries that have been made—are interesting reading. A remarkable case follows:

Weldon, Ill.

"Gentlemen—Through Eckman's Alterative I have been saved from a premature grave. On Dec. 14, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia. My lungs became very much affected and I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Tex., and from there to Colorado. After being in Colorado two weeks, my physician informed me that nothing could be done, as my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home. On July 14, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption, and since that time have been stout and well."

(Signed Affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Raboteau Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence Ismay to Give Fund for Sailors.

LONDON, May 14.—The London papers publish a statement that J. Bruce Ismay intends to provide an endowment fund for pensions for disabled seamen of the White Star Line and, for their widows, as a memorial to the Titanic's crew. The fund will probably be $100,000.

INDIGESTION, GAS AND ALL STOMACH MISERY IS ENDED IN FIVE MINUTES.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Eat what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of Indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, Belching, Gas on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no Indigestion or Sleepless nights or Headache or Stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapepsin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on the Stomach or sour odors from the Stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.—ADV.

"KNOW ST. LOUIS" TOUR

B. M. L. to Give Second Excursion May 23.

The Business Men's League will give its second "Know St. Louis" tour Thursday, May 23. Arrangements have been made to accommodate more than 500 business men. The special "Know St. Louis Train" will leave Union Station at 10 a. m., going over the Missouri Pacific tracks to Cheltenham. After an inspection of the Cheltenham factory district the train will return to Tower Grove station, going from there south over the Oak Hill division to Carondelet, thence north on the Iron Mountain tracks to the Manufacturers' Railway lines. These lines will be inspected, and the train will then proceed along the river front to the Merchants' Bridge, crossing to Granite City.

From Granite City the tour will proceed over the Terminal outer belt, covering all the fatcory districts on the East Side. The train will return to the Washington avenue station at 3:30 p. m. Luncheon will be served at the plant of the Commonwealth Steel Co. in Granite City.

STAND-PAT WING OF SOCIALISTS, LED BY BERGER, WINS

Resolutions Committee Elected by "Opportunists" Expected to Ignore Industrial Workers.

APPROPRIATION IS SOUGHT

Milwaukee Congressman, if Possible to Block Support of "Direct Action" Campaigns.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 14.—"Progressive opportunists" and "immediate revolutionists" opposed each other at the opening of today's session of the Socialist national convention. This was the division of the 290 delegates on the election of a Platform and Resolutions Committee and won by the "opportunists" or conservatives, led by Congressman Victor Berger of Wisconsin and Charles Edward Russell of New York by large majorities.

Determined not to alienate trades unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor by adopting a platform approving the "labor unit" scheme of the Industrial Workers of the World, the Platform Committee, the majority's leaders said, would submit a plan of action reiterating the Socialist "program," but ignoring the demand of the revolutionary wing for an immediate upset of the capitalistic system and taking over of the means of production by the "workers."

Haywood Makes Appeal.

A show of hands was expected upon the request of William D. Haywood, a leader of the Industrial Workers and a member of the Executive Committee of the Socialist party, that the Executive Committee report at once to the convention on the telegraphic plea for an appropriation in support of the "free speech fight" at San Diego, Cal.

The Executive Committee has already authorized an appeal to the 5000 local Socialists' organizations for financial aid in the defense of 100 or more men arrested in San Diego, charged with inciting riots, but Congressman Berger has announced the "old line" Socialists will block, if they can, any further support of "direct action" campaigns instigated by the Industrial Workers at San Diego or elsewhere.

Wishes One Great Union.

Mayor L. J. Duncan of Butte, Mont., an avowed "revolutionary," elected to the Platform Committee, said he would support Haywood and his sympathizers with the Industrial Workers among the men and women on the convention floor in advocating the forming of one great national industrial union that could strike immediately and effectively for the overthrow of capitalism and the realization of Socialistic ideals.

BATH MAKES PLANS TO RECEIVE MORSE

Maine Town, Where Paroled Banker Has a Home, Is Loyal —Traveler's Health Better.

BATH, Maine, May 14.—In response to a call issued by President Jackson of the Board of Trade, a meeting of prominent citizens was held at City Hall to form plans for giving a reception to Charles W. Morse, former New York banker, who is to return to his old home here the latter part of the month.

Bath people have been loyal to Morse from the moment that he was arrested for violating the Federal banking laws. When he was paroled by President Taft from further serving the 15 year sentence at the Federal prison at Atlanta, Bath people held a band concert and burned red fire.

Morse has completed a treatment of baths at Wiesbaden, and will sail for New York May 18, coming direct from there to this city to spend the summer. He will be accompanied to this city by Mrs. Morse and they will stay with his sister, Miss Jennie R. Morse and his 14-year-old daughter, Miss Anna Morse, who are living at the old homestead on Washington street. In a letter to the Rev. Dr. Francis W. O'Brien of the People's Baptist Church, Morse says he is much improved in health.

YOUTH TURNS ON THE GAS

Pins Note to Shirt and Awaits Death, but Is Found.

Roy Volker pinned a suicide note to his shirt, turned on four burners of the gas range and then stretched himself on two chairs in the kitchen of his home, 2341 Rutger street, Tuesday morning, and waited for death. His mother, Mrs. Sarah Volker, smelled the gas, and found him unconscious. She summoned a physician, who, after giving Volker emergency treatment, ordered his removal to the city hospital.

Mrs. Volker told the police she did not know what prompted her son to try to kill himself. He is 21 years old.

10 INCHES SNOW IN DENVER

Heavy Fall Gives No Alarm to Fruit Growers.

DENVER, Col., May 14.—Ten inches of snow had fallen here early today and it was still snowing in many parts of the State. Little apprehension was felt by Colorado fruit growers. The temperatures were generally warm.

The storm assures plenty of water for irrigation throughout the Eastern half of the State and the farmers are jubilant.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

HIS FUNERAL IS JOYOUS

Industrial Workers Exult for Comrade Killed by Police.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 14.—While scores of police stood posted at vantage points awaiting the first sign of trouble, several hundred members of the Industrial Workers of the World yesterday conducted the funeral of Jose Mikolosek, a comrade, who was killed last week in a battle with police at San Diego.

They did it peacefully, but without signs of mourning. Rather it was an occasion of joy, several speakers declared, because the man whose ashes presently would be taken from the crematory had achieved the highest destiny—"martyrdom in the cause of human emancipation and liberty."

Imagine Gas Stoves made with nonrustable Cast Iron White Enameled Ovens. See "Buck's" and you will have no other.

IF YOUR CHILD NEEDS A LAXATIVE GIVE IT DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

Children dearly love to take delicious "Syrup of Figs" and nothing else cleans and regulates their tender little stomachs and liver so promptly and thoroughly.

Children get bilious and constipated just like grown-ups. Then they get sick, the tongue is coated, stomach sour, breath bad; they don't eat or rest well; they become feverish, cross, irritable and don't want to play. Listen Mothers—for your child's sake don't force the little one to swallow nauseating castor oil, violent calomel or harsh irritants like Cathartic pills. A teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs will have your child smiling and happy again in just a few hours. Syrup of Figs will gently clean, sweeten and regulate the stomach, make the liver active and move the bile, the foul, clogged-up waste and poisons, without causing cramps or griping.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging or injuring your children. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.—ADV.

Nemo WEEK

Continued Until Saturday, May 18

Be A Wise Woman!

DEAR MADAM:—

A genuine "bumper" business in Nemo Corsets during Nemo Week shows that millions of sensible women, all over the country, have again expressed their hearty approval of the Nemo Hygienic Corset System.

Never before have we been able to offer such a wide variety of models for all figures, or such great values; and, as a natural result, never before were so many Nemo Corsets sold in a single week.

In order that still other thousands of women may profit by this country-wide display of "the world's best corsets," Nemo Week will be continued until next Saturday, May 18.

Don't miss this opportunity to study the great Nemo Corset System and see for yourself the vast superiority of the genuine Nemo Corsets over the many useless imitations with which the market is flooded.

Self-Reducing
$3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00

Slender Models
$3.00, $4.00 and $5.00

Be sure to note the wonderful style and comfort effects produced by the use of those two patented Nemo fabrics—Lastikops Cloth and Lastikops Webbing—the only elastic fabrics in existence that will not lose their elasticity, but keep your corset flexible and comfortable.

If any dealer tries to sell you something "just as good as the Nemo," refuse it, and go to a store where you can get what you want.

YOUTH KICKED IN FACE; CONDUCTOR IS BEING HUNTED

Police Watch Home of C. H. Rose, the Accused, All Night, but He Fails to Appear.

With instructions to arrest C. H. Rose, a Grand avenue line street car conductor, policemen were stationed at Rose's home and at the Virginia avenue car sheds Tuesday, following a complaint that Rose kicked Joseph Pezolt, 14 years old, from his car Monday afternoon.

George Pezolt of 6140 Elizabeth avenue, father of the boy, told the police that Joseph was on Rose's car, southbound, and asked Rose to stop at Caroline street.

According to the father's statement the car passed Caroline street and the boy said to the conductor:

"Are you deaf?"

Rose is said to have replied: "You shut up."

When the car stopped at Park avenue, Pezolt says the conductor opened the exit door and as the boy passed through it Rose kicked young Pezolt in the face.

The boy went to the office of Dr. W. H. Foster at 3559 Caroline street, with his lip so lacerated that it was necessary to put six stitches in it, according to the report to the police.

The assault is alleged to have occurred at 1 p. m., but the police were not notified until 8:30 p. m.

When a patrolman was sent to the car sheds to arrest Rose, he was told by Superintendent Butler that Pezolt had already made a complaint there, and that Rose had been suspended. It was said he would probably return to the sheds Tuesday, as he had 13 days' pay coming to him.

Policemen who watched Rose's home all night, reported that he did not appear there after being suspended.

ST. LOUIS SOLDIER DIES

PORTLAND, Ore., May 14.—After beating his keeper to insensibility late yesterday, Renato Petrozzoli, an insane infantryman, jumped from the transport Thomas into the water and was drowned in an attempt to swim across the Willamette River.

Although shackled, Petrozzoli had accomplished almost half the distance before, apparently, he felt his strength giving out. He attempted to swim back, but sank just as a rowboat reached him.

Petrozzoli enlisted from St. Louis, and was a member of the Fifteenth Regiment.

MARSHALL SCHOOL WORKING HARD IN ATHLETIC LEAGUE

Boys Get Late Start in Contest for Post-Dispatch Prizes, but Are Coming Strong.

SQUAD STARTED WITH 25

Others Join the Team and Have Daily Workouts at Their Training Grounds.

"The next best thing to startin' is early startin' strong," as Col. Todhunter of Missouri might have remarked. And that is the way it is with the boys of the Marshall School, Lucky street and Newstead avenue. They did not start early in the Public School Athletic League that has been organized by the Post-Dispatch, but they started "powerful strong," and they are getting under way in a fashion that will very soon overcome whatever drawbacks there is in the late start.

When the Athletic League was brought to the attention of Principal E. D. Luckey of the Marshal School, he took it up with the boys, but they were interested in something else at the time and Principal Luckey came to the conclusion that nothing could be done, and Marshall School was left off of the list of Athletic League Schools. But the leaven of interest in field and track athletics was working among the boys. Their interest in other things lagged, and a desire began to take form to have a part in the Athletic League.

The boy athletes had a meeting and talked it over and decided that they wanted to be in the league. Hobart Rude of 4472 Easton avenue was elected captain and 25 boys signed for the track and field work. As soon as it became known that a squad had been organized, applications for membership began to pour in.

"We are going to have a good many more in," said Captain Rude Tuesday. "They are coming in pretty fast. We have some pretty good boys at Marshall and in spite of our late start, we expect to give a good account of ourselves. We are training at Newstead and Cote Brilliante avenues."

The 25 boys who joined the first day that the Marshall squad was organized are Hobart Rude, Harry Marx, Harold Stiers, Richard Thompson, Charles High, William Hild, Charles Little, Frank Huber, Everett Perrie, Charles Siegel, John Bolger, John Brugnone, Peter Miravalle, Eli Tzinberg, Isadore Lappeman, James Feldman, Edward Arnold, Carl Hershfeld, Neville Bates, Paul Gilham, Harry Howard, Herman Adler, Red Burke, Nathan Rosenstein, Isadore Selzer.

As the Marshall School is not to have a picnic, the school meet will be held by itself. The time and place have not been selected.

MORE LIFE SOUGHT IN METHODIST PAPERS

Committee Advocates Course Between Official Deadness and Sensationalism.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 14.—That the poor should be admitted to the hospitals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, when recommended by their pastors under proper rules and regulations, not as charity patients, but as guests of the church, is embodied in the report of the Committee on Temporal Economy to be made to the General Conference in session here.

That there is a great problem before the book committee with respect to a number of the church's periodicals, which are said to be losing money for the church, is indicated in the report.

The committee advocates that a tone be created in the periodicals that shall lie between the deadness of officialism on one side and sensationalism on the other, and also that a commission be named to study the difficulties before the periodicals and present a plan next April which will do away with the monetary loss.

WOMAN HELD AS FORGER

Mrs. Sarah Curran, Who Posed as "Mrs. Hunter" Arrested in Chicago.

Mrs. Sarah Curran, 25 years old, wanted here for obtaining $150 from the Mercantile Trust Co. by posing as the wife of W. S. Hunter of 16 North Eleventh street, is under arrest in Chicago. Her husband and child were with her when Pinkertons found her at 3022 Calumet street. A detective will go after her Tuesday night.

Mrs. Curran, who is described as an attractive, auburn-haired woman, was employed by Hunter as housekeeper. She disappeared April 30 and Hunter later learned she had taken his bank book and had written a check for $150. She then indorsed the check, "Mrs. W. S. Hunter," went to the Mercantile Trust Co.'s bank and cashed it.

Letter Causes Fugitive's Arrest.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Safe, as he thought in Conception, Mo., Louis H. Heesin, formerly an express wagon driver, who disappeared May 3 with a wagon containing $4000 worth of jewelry and clothing, recently wrote to a friend here that the Chicago police were "a bunch of rums." Two Chicago detectives arrested Heesin in Conception after his friend had displayed the letter.

One in 20 Bookbuyers by Habit.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Only five per cent of the residents of the United States are book buyers by habit, according to statistics compiled by officers of the American Book Sellers' Association in convention here today.

Weber prices advance

The Aeolian Company announces that on and after May 20th the prices of Weber Upright Pianos and Weber Upright Pianola Pianos will be advanced $50.

Before the twentieth a Weber Piano or a Weber Pianola Piano may be purchased at present prices.

We also extend the privilege of placing your order for a Weber this week at present prices and having a delivery made in the fall, or at your convenience without extra charge.

Thus by coming in this week and selecting your Weber Piano or Weber Pianola Piano you may take advantage of prices which are actually below the value of the instrument by $50 in each case.

The reason for the price advance is the increased cost of the rare materials and rare workmanship which are the essentials of Weber construction.

It was necessary either to raise the price of Weber instruments or to lower the quality.

Similar problems are commonly solved by a sacrifice of quality, but the only course consistent with Aeolian policy is to charge enough more for the Weber to enable the company to maintain that high standard which has given the Weber its distinctive place in the pianoforte world and helped to make the Aeolian Company pre-eminent among the music houses of both continents.

SUFFRAGISTS TO PARADE

Philadelphia Women Meet This Week to Plan Pageant.

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—The success of the parade of suffragists in New York has stirred Philadelphia women to action and a meeting will be held this week to discuss plans for a similar demonstration in this city.

New York suffrage leaders say that thousands of women have joined the ranks since the parade there ten days ago. The local leaders plan a parade in the autumn.

BOY, 14 YEARS OLD, IS THE CHAMPION MISSOURI SPELLER

Hugh Sappington Misses "Abacus" and "Appetence," but He Gets $100.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 14.—Hugh Sappington of Clarksburg, Moniteau County, won first prize in the State spelling contest here, in which 73 counties were represented. Sappington misspelled 14 of the 200 words pronounced. He received $100.

Helen McClain of Scotland County, whose postoffice is Catrill, Io., won second prize of $50. She missed 18 of the 200 words.

Ernest Campbell of Buckner, Jackson County, and Elvan Allen of Greencastle, Adair County, tied on third place, and the $25 prize was divided between them. They each misspelled 26 words.

Myrtle Cook of Cross Timbers, Hickory County, won in the free-for-all contest, winning a small cash prize. She stood longest in the contest held at the opera house, at which Gov. Hadley, Judge Henry W. Bond, Mayor Cecil W. Thomas and Supt. Evans presided.

Sappington is an eighth-grade pupil, 14 years old. He missed "abacus," "Jardiniere," "ukase," "appetence," "araneous," "dehiscence," "Synovial," "apostolicity" and "dalliance." These were the oral words. In the written test he missed "knout," "roguery," "capital" (city) and "characteristics."

Helen McCain is an eighth-grade pupil. She misspelled syzygy, chirurgery, in the written test, and abacus, flageolet, xylograph, appetence, cuirrassier, lite, appurtenance, deleble, defecate, complaisant, falchion, eludible and vesicle.

ASTOR'S LEAVING COLLEGE UNWISE, SAYS DEAN SNOW

Veteran Washington University Instructor Asserts Education Cannot Be Replaced.

COULD GET CASH ANY TIME

Asserts Youth Will Realize, When He Is Old, Something Is Missing in Life.

A full half century of life in American colleges, 45 years as an instructor and the rest as a student, has led retiring Dean Marshall Solomon Snow of the college of Washington University to the belief that the one thing in this existence that a person, who has the means, can least afford to miss is a college education.

The picture of Vincent Astor leaving Harvard in his freshman year to take up the management and enjoyment of $100,000,000 left him by his father, who was lost on the Titanic, is a sad spectacle viewed through the eyes of Dean Snow.

"The money bags," said Dean Snow, "are something that she could put his hands on any time. But a college career is something that comes within one's grasp only once and if it escapes it never gets within seizing distance again. Why the rush for the money? If he had waited until he had finished Harvard his rational capacity for enjoyment of the huge fortune would have been increased immeasurably. And I presume it is for the enjoyment of carrying it that he is putting the load upon his shoulders, for otherwise why take it up?

"Never Can Purchase Ticket."

"In saying this I presume that Astor is a normal young man with an aptitude for learning. And to such a one no amount of money in the end will ever make up for lack of education. There are fields of intellectual enjoyment into which he will never be able to purchase a ticket and when he gets to be an old man like I am he will realize that there is something missing from his life."

As he sat in his office at the college Monday discussing with a Post-Dispatch reporter the lessons that he has learned in 50 years at school, Dean Snow's 70 years of age seemed to bother him little. He is looking forward to the summer vacation when he can sail a catboat in the sea with the same glee that an urchin who has just finished his last year in the common school looks forward to his long vacation as he realizes that there will be no school next year.

Snow's resignation as dean of the college of Washington University becomes effective June 13. He is to be succeeded as dean by Frederick Collier Hall, professor of Greek. He had been connected with the university as dean and professor 42 years, 37 years as dean.

Before that he was a professor at the old University of Nashville, in Tennessee, a professor in Nashville and Worcester, Mass., high schools and a student at Harvard and Phillips Academy at Exeter, N. H.

College professorships have not eagerly been sought by ambitious young men, but Dean Snow's graduated judgment is that there are few other fields with as bright inducements and that hold out so much promise of a life of real happiness. The college professor, says the dean, never will have a change of touring cars, one for the country roads and another for the city pavements, he never will own a yacht or even leave his children a comfortable fortune unless he has a windfall from somewhere, but if he just wants a happy life and is fond of work, he may have both in plenty.

Joys of a Professor's Life.

Some of the compensations of the professor's life, the dean says, are the joys you feel when these things happen:

When a man comes to you and says, "Don't you remember me? I was in your class 15 years ago. Remember how you worked with me and how you shaped the turning point in my whole life?"

When you enter on the long summer vacation and get to the seashore for several months, away from the routine of life.

When you receive a living wage, as nearly all college professors do.

When your students turn out to be good and worthy men.

When the best society receives you gladly, as it does any cultured person, despite lack of wealth.

And, lastly, when you can tell yourself that you have been engaged in a work worth while and that you have done it well.

Dean Snow does not believe a college education is good for every person without exception. He says he has come in contact with many young men whom he advised to give up college and go to work.

Has Advised Some to Quit.

"And these," said the dean, "were not always the dull. They were just boys who had a natural aversion and whose whole thought was centered on getting into some business. When I found them I counseled them to quit. They could not have taken the course with profit."

When he returns from his vacation Dean Snow will take up writing and lecturing.

"I am going to enjoy myself now," said the dean, "but that does not mean that I will quit work. If I did I could not enjoy myself. But things will be easy, as I will be pensioned by the Carnegie foundation. I quit my college life full of satisfaction. Once when I was a student I had a penchant for medicine. But if it were all to be done over again I think I would choose the life of a college professor."

Hair Loss Is Not Necessary; Save It With--Newbro's Herpicide

Approaching baldness, while frequently contemplated with misgivings, is nevertheless accepted as inevitable. It is not necessary to become bald. Baldness can be prevented.

Loss of hair is due to the activity of the germ which causes dandruff. Newbro's Herpicide is the first remedy ever compounded which absolutely destroys this germ. Used regularly and intelligently, Herpicide will remove every trace of dandruff and prevents the hair from coming out. The terrible itching of the scalp, which is so annoying, stops with the first application.

This valuable scalp prophylactic adds luster and brilliancy to the hair and renders the scalp perfectly healthy. This permits the hair, hitherto stunted by the presence of dandruff, to grow freely and luxuriantly. It takes on a natural gloss and beauty, where before it was dry, brittle, uneven and coming out with every combing.

Newbro's Herpicide is the first and original dandruff germ destroyer and costs no more than the off brand and so-called "just as good" remedy.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications at the best barber shops.

Send ten cents in postage or silver to the Herpicide Company, Dept. S., Detroit, Mich., for trial bottle and an interesting booklet on the care of the hair.

PIANO SALE

500 PIANOS AND PLAYER-PIANOS PURCHASED AT ONE STROKE OF THE HAMMER

Another gigantic purchase has been made by the King Piano Co., of the entire stock, holdings, etc., of the Muehlhauser Piano Co., Cleveland, Ohio. The Muehlhauser Piano Co. was one of the largest, most honored and respected piano houses between New York and Chicago. They were exclusive representatives for many of the finest standard, high-grade Pianos and Player-Pianos manufactured, but, on account of financial reasons, were obliged to close their business. The King Piano Co., with their immense purchasing power, were there, Johnnie on the spot, with the real cash, and snapped up these great bargains before the other fellow got wise.

HERE THEY ARE---PIANOS AND PLAYER-PIANOS GALORE

It must be remembered when the King Piano Co. goes out and buys Pianos manufactured by other concerns, that they are bargains of the first water, as we are one of the largest Piano manufacturers in the world, and are going to sell our own makes of Pianos, unless we can buy other Pianos away below what it costs to make them.

KING, KNABE, CHICKERING, ANDERSON, KRELL-FRENCH, A. B. CHASE, BEHR BROS., BRADBURY, HALLET & DAVIS, KIMBALL, CAMPBELL, AUERBACH, STONE, DECKER BROS., STUDEBAKER, SCHMIDT & SHULTZ, JACOB DOLL, VALLEY GEM, ETC.

Here are a few of the great bargains, new and used, that are now arriving from the Muehlhauser Piano Co., Cleveland, Ohio. Come in and snap them up at once, for you will never have a chance like this again.

$15 Takes a good NORWOOD upright.
20 Secures a nice BECKSTEIN upright.
25 Puts in your home the sweet toned JEWEL upright.
45 Spells your choice of four STANDARD pianos (upright).
58 Takes an upright that equals any $300 value.
68 Rings the keynote of a fine HALLET & DAVIS upright.
75 Is a great big snap—a J. & C. FISCHER upright.
80 Something to be proud of, a HINZE upright.
85 An almost new VALLEY GEM upright.
90 Is the equivalent of $400 on a fine ADAM SCHAAF upright.

WIFE INSISTS SHE STABBED HERSELF

Tripped, After Throwing Meat Cleaver at Husband, and Potato Knife Penetrates Side.

Mrs. Mabel Moore of 3502 Lindell avenue, taken to the city hospital Monday night with a knife wound in her left side, told the police she had accidentally hurt herself, but on the statement of her 12-year-old son that his father had inflicted the wound, the police are seeking George Moore for an explanation.

Mrs. Moore said her husband had quarreled with her because she permitted Mrs. Sadie Narnbelzer of 3408 Lindell avenue to visit her. She threw a meat cleaver at him, she said, and when he dodged that she picked up a potato knife and started after him. She tripped on the stairs, she said, and the blade penetrated her side.

Moore accompanied his wife to the dispensary, and when he heard the doctor say the wound was serious he disappeared.

22,500 Tons of Dynamite for Canal.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—It is estimated that when the excavation of the Panama canal is completed nearly 55,000,000 pounds of dynamite will have been used. In the eight years the work of digging the "big ditch" has been going on 50,517,650 pounds of the explosive has been used, and it is estimated that 3,986,500 pounds will be required to finish the job.

You Are Welcome to a Complimentary Demonstration—

Whether you are "ready to buy just now" or not—if you already have a player piano of another make—even if you have no intention of purchasing, we want you to come in and hear the Apollo render your favorite selection.

This is more than a mere statement that "you'll not be urged to buy". It is a guarantee that we will gladly give you (and your friends if you choose to bring them) an absolutely complimentary demonstration of the Apollo Player Piano. The motive back of it all is the pride we take in the instrument and the love of music which inspires your visit.

Then, too, we honestly believe, and with reason, that Apollo music is its own best advertising. That—after you have heard the Apollo Player Piano, you will be willing and ready at all times to endorse it. And—if you ever are in the market for a player piano yourself, you'll consider the Apollo first of all.

In the fidelity of its reproduction of the playing of great human artists, the Apollo stands alone. It strikes down on the keys with a touch that brings out all the music the piano key is capable of—with a touch that far surpasses that of many human musicians. Then that vital and heretofore impossible achievement—accenting the melody or omitting it altogether at will, is correctly and easily accomplished with the Apollo.

The Metronome Motor enables you to forget the music roll entirely and devote your entire attention to getting the utmost out of the composition. It rewinds the rolls without pedaling, too.

The Tempograph gives you positive control of time and—but what's the use of trying to tell you in cold type when a call will give you so much clearer an idea of what the Apollo Player Piano really does.

Pay that visit the first time you're down our way. Just say, "I've dropped in for a complimentary demonstration of the Apollo". We will gladly give it. If you love music you'll be glad you came.

SCHUMANN-HEINK SINGS TO GREAT COLISEUM HOUSE

Beloved Contralto Delights Vast Audience at Maternity Hospital Benefit.

WIDE RANGE OF PROGRAM

Song-Recital Numbers Include Grand Opera Arias, Folk-Songs and Lullabies.

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS.

ALONE, save for her very excellent accompanist at the piano, Mme. Schumann-Heink sang to some 8000 persons or more at the Coliseum on Monday evening and held them finely subject to the spell of one of the greatest and most sympathetic contralto voices in the world.

The beloved Diva's song-recital was for the benefit of the St. Louis Maternity Hospital, and the audience assembled in behalf of the noble cause and for love of the Schumann-Heink voice was undeniably the largest and perhaps the most brilliantly representative seen in St. Louis during the eventful season now at its close.

The Coliseum itself very handsomely framed in this vast audience, and the stage at its east end was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants for the appropriate enshrining of the night's great soloist. A storm of applause welcomed Mme. Schumann-Heink's first appearance, the popular prima donna stepping to the stage from a private box at its rear, followed by Mrs. Katherine Hoffman, her accompanist, the Coliseum at this moment being filled from its splendid sweep of boxes to the topmost seats in the gallery.

And then began an evening of the purest lyric delight.

Of the admirably balanced program of song numbers in which Mme. Schumann-Heink chose to appear, it seemed to me that her most memorable triumphs of the night were scored with the tender aria, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah;" Schubert's "Great Is Jehovah, the Lord;" Franz's wistful "Im Herbst," Arditi's glowingly colorful and passionate "Bolero," the exquisitely melodious and poetic "Irish Love Song," by Margaret Ruthven Lang, and Salter's majestically tragic and heart-moving "Cry of Rachel," the latter being so dramatically interpreted by the singer that its poignant refrain, "Death, Let Me In," is not likely soon to be forgotten by any who heard it.

But, in addition to these numbers, Mme. Schumann-Heink also sang many other songs, mainly old German folksongs and several delicious lullabies, as well as two other "Samson and Delilah" arias, the "Spring Song" and "Oh, Love of Thy Might," and her success was pronounced in all. The program in its completeness, included, besides the numbers already mentioned, Schubert's "Liebesbotschaft," Robert Schumann's "Mondnacht," Fr. Schubert's "Die Forelle," Schumann's "Widmung," Wagner's "Traume," Richard Strauss' "Allerseelen," Carl Lowe's "Mutter an der Wiege," Marion Eugenie Bauer's "Light," which is the musical setting of "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," Harold's "A Child's Prayer," and, as encores, two little hearthside songs of great sweetness and charm.

MACLYN ARBUCKLE IN BIG HIT AT COLUMBIA

Maclyn Arbuckle does a big, homely, truthful bit of work as "Art" Hoke, a political boss, in "The Reform Candidate," the topline feature of the Columbia's bill this week, and his success yesterday afternoon and evening was far and away the triumph of the two opening performances.

In its essentials the part is not unlike the title role of Mr. Arbuckle's greatly successful playing in "The County Chairman," which preceded his hit in "The Round-Up," one of the most picturesque plays produced on the American stage during recent years. It presents the star as a practical politician who is more honest than he is credited with being, and its story of how he saved from disgrace the "reform candidate" for Mayor, who had married the woman of his own loving, gives opportunity not only for some very effective strokes of native humor, but for an occasional touch of wholesome sentiment and sincere pathos as well. Mr. Arbuckle plays the part with absolute fidelity and holds the regard of the audience from start to finish. He is capably assisted by a company which includes Sidney S. Cushing, Evelyn Weidling and Lance Burritt.

Other features on the new bill are Maude Lambert, with Ernest R. Ball at the piano, in a pleasing song repertoire; the Four Lyric Latins, in operatic and Italian melodies; Mazini and Desperado, comedy acrobats; Hufford and Chain, "the cullud parson and the minstrel man;" the Van Brothers, in harmony and comedy; the Eugene Trio, bar artists, and the photoplane pictures.

JAC—Lottis Bros. say "Diamonds Win Hearts." They will give credit. 308 N. 6th.

WELLS MAKES AN ARREST

Lloyd Wells, son of former Mayor Rolla Wells, told the police he will apply for a warrant against a man he captured on an Olive car Monday evening. Wells, who is assistant treasurer of the Mortgage Guaranty Co., felt a tug at his hip pocket, and, reaching back, grabbed a hand which was about to extract his wallet. He turned the man over to a traffic policeman.

The prisoner gave his name as James Blake and said Kansas City was his home. Bertillon Expert Shea identified him as Walter Bond, who had been arrested previously, suspected as a pickpocket.

Illinois Miners Accept Scale.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 14.—Miners in the Illinois fields voted by a majority of almost 12,000 votes to accept the wage agreement arranged at the Peoria conference. An official canvass has just been completed. Totals for the State show that 24,321 miners favored the adoption of the contract, while 11,970 were opposed to it.

Ruef Cases to Be Dismissed.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Sixty remaining indictments and one criminal information pending against Abraham Ruef, the convicted political boss of San Francisco, will be dismissed under a peremptory writ issued by the District Court of Appeals. Ruef is serving a sentence of 14 years in San Quentin for bribery.

MRS. HARRY THAW CHANGES BABY'S NAME TO 'RUSSELL'

For a Time Rosy-Cheeked Lad at Her Mother's Home Was Called "Anthony."

WINDOW BLINDS DRAWN

Doors at Her Parents' House in Pittsburg Locked After the Report of Birth.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 14.—"Anthony" or "Russell" is the name Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is said to have selected for the 21-months-old baby in her charge.

Following denials from friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Thaw that she has a baby, comes a dispatch from Pittsburg that a baby was being cared for in the home of Mrs. Charles Holman, Evelyn Thaw's mother, at 550 Berkshire avenue, Brookline, Pittsburg.

This child, a fat, rosy-cheeked boy, is known as Russell. He first made his appearance at the Holman house last summer. Then he was called Anthony. Three weeks ago the child was brought again to the Holmans by his mother, who had gone to Pittsburg either from Boston or New York. Children who had played with the boy asked why his name had been changed and were told:

"Russell's mamma does not like Anthony for a name and has changed it to Russell."

Leaving Russell with the Holmans, the boy's mother returned East, and is said to have come to New York. A few days ago she appeared in Brookline. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw left New York, last Friday, and then said she was going to visit her mother, Mrs. Holman, in Pittsburg.

Mother in Seclusion.

The mother of Russell has been in seclusion in the Holman home. Children of the neighborhood have had access to the house and Russell's mother, as described by these children, is very beautiful, with dark wavy hair and eyes. The description of Russell's mother would fit Mrs. Thaw.

Russell did not appear yesterday, nor was his mother or any member of the Holman household to be seen. A little girl who was sure Mrs. Holman would admit her to the house to play with Russell pushed the front door bell many times. The child said Mrs. Holman knew her ring, but the door was not opened.

Neighbors of the Holmans have speculated for some time as to whether the beautiful child was the baby of Harry Thaw's wife. The Holmans did not retire into seclusion until yesterday, when the story that Evelyn Thaw had a son and heir was published. Then window blinds were drawn and the doors locked.

Mrs. Thurston, said to be a sculptor and teacher of sculpture, and Evelyn Nesbit Thaw have been living together in the Borchard Apartments, 220 West Ninty-eighth street, for several months. Before they moved there the two had apartments at 210 112th street. Mrs. Thaw was not in either of the houses under her own name. In fact, it was said last night that she and Mrs. Thurston moved from the 112th street house when the identity of the younger woman became known.

Won't Discuss Report.

When asked about the baby reported to have been born to Mrs. Thaw, a woman, who said she was Mrs. Thurston, said: "I must refuse to discuss Mrs. Thaw or her affairs in any way."

The superintendent of the apartment house said:

"I have never seen any baby in Mrs. Thurston's apartments and do not believe there was one. Should I find that Mrs. Thaw was the mother of a child, born under conditions as described in the newspapers, and that this child was living in my house, I would exercise my right of five days' notice as given in the lease and insist that Mrs. Thurston move. It seems to me that if there had been a child in the Thurston apartments I would have known it."

If Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is the mother of an infant, it is news to Clarence J. Shearn, counsel for Harry Thaw.

"The statement is ridiculous," Shearn said. "The story as published is both libelous and false. If a child had been born to Mrs. Thaw, I should have known of it."

William Travers Jerome, as Deputy Attorney-General, who is representing the State in the proceedings instituted by Thaw to get out of Matteawan, has seen Evelyn Nesbit Thaw on many occasions recently.

"If she is the mother of a child," said the former District Attorney, "it has been kept one of the secrets of the age. I certainly would have been informed had Mrs. Thaw given birth to a baby."

Dr. Austin Flint, one of the alienists for the State, who on several occasions since the present Thaw proceedings were instituted has been in conference with Evelyn Thaw, declared he had no knowledge of a child being born to Harry Thaw's wife.

"I know the story of the baby to be without foundation," he added.

Doctor Doesn't Believe It.

A physician who has attended Thaw almost constantly since the killing of Stanford White, said:

"In the spring of 1909, Thaw [illegible] kept in the Dutchess County

AVIATOR WHO WAS KILLED WHEN MACHINE FELL AT KINLOCH PARK

AVIATOR RAY WHEELER

Jail, where he occupied the quarters of Sheriff 'Bob' Chanler. So much freedom was allowed him there that the Prison Board objected, and he was taken to White Plains Jail and kept there through June, July and August.

"While in White Plains Jail, I happen to know that Thaw was incommunicado. There was never a time when anyone was allowed to be with Thaw alone. He was taken from White Plains back to Matteawan. Thaw had no liberty extended him in the asylum."

Although Evelyn Thaw has endeavored to keep secret her address, her movements were fairly well known to her friends. Two years ago she was often seen in Broadway restaurants. Suddenly she left New York, announcing that she was going to Paris to continue her studies. Instead of going to Paris, however, she went to Hamburg, Germany, where she stayed several months. While in Germany the baby is said to have been born. This was in the summer of 1910.

At the Restaurants Again.

Evelyn Thaw returned quietly to New York from Germany, and her closest friends never heard that she brought a baby home with her. After that she was for a time seen as before about the restaurants uptown.

Mrs. Alice Lynch, secretary for Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, and in whose home on South avenue, Fishkill, Thaw's mother lives when in the East, said that Mrs. Thaw returned to her home in Pittsburg last Wednesday to attend to duties in connection with a hospital to which she has contributed large sums of money.

"Mrs. Thaw had heard nothing about this seemingly ridiculous story before she left," said Mrs. Lynch. "I do not see how the story can be true."

It is expected that Thaw will be told today of the story that his wife has a son now nearly 2 years old.

Detective Roger O'Mara Does Not Believe the Baby Report.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 14.—Detective Roger O'Mara of Pittsburg, who has been in charge of the Thaw affairs ever since Harry shot Stanford White, said:

"If Mrs. Thaw is the mother of a baby, I have no knowledge of it, and I do not believe the reports I have seen in the papers. Further than this, I have nothing to say at this time."

THINKS MISSING MAN DEAD

August Schiffhorst of 2628 Wyoming street reported to the police of Central District Monday night that he believed the man who jumped from Eads Bridge last week was August Spiegel, a cigar maker, who has been missing from his home in Manchester, St. Louis County, since May 3.

Schiffhorst said Spiegel was 38 years old and wore a black suit and black derby, answering to the description of the man who leaped into the river.

ALTON EDITOR IS KNOCKED OUT IN A STREET FIGHT

Edward E. Campbell, editor and proprietor of the Alton Daily Times, was knocked out by Max Rubenstein, a city contractor, in a street fight, at Second and Market streets, Alton, at 6 p. m., Monday. Campbell had been criticising Rubenstein in his paper, charging him with being responsible for the removal of Chief of Police La Chance, a week ago. Campbell is Champ Clark's campaign manager in Illinois. He was in charge of headquarters in Chicago during the primary campaign.

In Monday's issue Campbell printed an editorial saying that Rubenstein ought to be compelled to give a bond to leave the city for the city's good. Rubenstein called Campbell over the telephone and complained about the criticisms.

"If you bother me I'll do some shooting," Rubenstein said Campbell replied over the telephone.

"You might as well get your gun ready, for I am coming straight to your office," Rubenstein said.

Rubenstein started for the Times office. He met Campbell at Second and Market streets, an intersecting point for the street car lines. A crowd of about 150 persons was waiting for the cars.

Rubenstein rushed for Campbell and landed a blow squarely on the jaw. Campbell went down on the pavement, and was unable to rise. Persons in the crowd helped him to his feet. About that time Moses Rubenstein, son of Max Rubenstein, arrived and made for Campbell. Persons in the crowd held him. Young Rubenstein declared that while three men held him, Campbell scratched his face with his finger nails.

Max Rubenstein slipped into a drug store to get out of the way of the police. He is 57 years old. Campbell is about 40, is six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. Rubenstein is slightly smaller, but stockily built.

Campbell and the two Rubensteins were arrested on cross-charges of disturbing the peace.

When Campbell and the elder Rubenstein met in the police station, Rubenstein said:

"I want to serve notice now on you, Campbell, that I'll lick you every time you print my name in your paper. That seems to be the only way I can stop you.

WISHED AWAY HER WARTS

"At one time my hands were covered with ugly warts. I don't think anyone ever had them worse than I did," said a young lady who works in one of the downtown offices in New York. "I was extremely sensitive about the appearance of my hands. The thought of those warts worried me night and day. I tried all the remedies I could think of and all that my friends recommended. One day at dinner with a young lady who had been abroad for two years, we made a wish over a wishbone. I lost. She said, 'Tell me your wish,' and I told her it was to be rid of my warts. She answered instantly, 'It shall come true,' and she gave me this prescription: 'Go to any druggist, get two drams of Traxit (Triple Strength), bathe the wart in warm water before retiring, dip a wooden toothpick into the Traxit and touch the wart lightly.' Within a week I was perfectly free from warts. I regard it as the most wonderful thing in the world and when I see anyone troubled like I was I invariably recommend it. I have never known it to fail. It seems strange that anyone should go through life suffering the humiliation of warts when they can be removed at such a trifling expense [illegible]"—ADV.

AVIATOR RALLIES AFTER FALL WHICH KILLED COMPANION

Surgeons to Amputate Peter Glasser's Right Leg in Hope of Saving His Life.

Surgeons in atendance upon Peter Glasser, driver of the aeroplane which was wrecked at Kinloch Aviation Field Monday at 7 p. m., when Glasser's companion, Raymond S. Wheeler, was killed, decided Tuesday it would be necessary to amputate the wounded man's right leg in a final effort to save his life. Glasser is at St. Luke's Hospital. He rallied once in the morning after it was thought he was dying, and appeared much stronger.

The accident happened just after Glasser had finished a flight and made what was applauded by the spectators as one of the most graceful landings seen at Kinloch. As both he and Wheeler were students and neither had as yet obtained a pilot's license, they were excited over the applause and the fact that some of the spectators had rushed forward to congratulate them.

This first flight had lasted about 18 minutes. Glasser headed his Benoist biplane into the shifting air currents with the coolness of an expert and his landing was described by M. J. Stone of the Stone Aero Co. of Atlanta, Ga., as being "like a pigeon dropping to the ground."

Second Flight Arranged.

It was nearly 7 o'clock, but Glasser decided upon another trip before dark. Wheeler, who lived with him at the De Luxe Hotel, 6668 Delmar boulevard, obtained permission to go along.

According to Stone, the youthful aviators had done well until they started to make a landing. As they neared the earth they encountered a drift of air which shot their machine upward. They barely managed to clear a tree and for a moment those watching them breathed easier, although their peril was obvious.

Wheeler Dies in a Car.

Both men fell with their heads across the steel rails of the car line. Wheeler died in a special United Railways car that was taking the injured men to Wellston, where ambulances were awaiting them. His body was sent to the morgue. Glasser was sent to St. Luke's Hospital.

When the machine fell at the foot of the trolley pole, it caught fire. Wheeler and Glasser were dragged from the flames by spectators.

Wheeler was 30 years old. He came here from Washington, D. C., to enter the aeroplane school at Kinloch Field. Efforts are being made to find a sister who lives in Bradford, Pa., and notify her of the accident.

Glasser is 27 years old. His home is in Billings, Mont., but he has been here for seevral months studying aviation. He has been considered an apt pupil.

Two Aviators Are Hurt.

PERRY, Io., May 14.—Aviator Ralph McMullen was seriously injured in an exhibition flight here. When more than 100 feet in the air the engine of his biplane went dead and McMullen attempted to glide to earth, but fell into a creek. Harry Williams, who accompanied him, was not seriously hurt.

OBTAINS AUTO TIRES BY RUSE; CAPTURED

H. D. Little Accused of First Telephoning in Name of Another, Then Calling for Goods.

Harry D. Little, formerly in the automobile business, admitted to detectives Tuesday that he had obtained two auto tires from the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and two more from the Goodrich Tire Co. by a telephone ruse.

About a week ago J. H. Paterson, manager of the Firestone company, received a telephone message purporting to come from J. H. Roskilly, a contractor living at 3089 Cass avenue. The man at the telephone told Patterson he wanted two tires and would send a man for them. Little appeared soon after and had no trouble getting the tires. The Goodrich company received the same order by telephone.

Later Patterson made inquiry and learned that Roskilly had not ordered the tires. Little telephoned the Firestone company again, in the name of Roskilly. He was told to send for the tires wanted and when he arrived at the office detectives were waiting for him.

Little is 22 years old, married, and resides at 1837 State street, East St. Louis.

FITZGERALD ACQUITTED

John Fitzgerald, a former city detective, was acquitted in Judge Taylor's court Tuesday of a charge of having been guilty of grand larceny and embezzlement of $111.10 which Mrs. Mary Schwartz, 2346 Clark avenue, said she had given to him to apply on the inheritance tax on the estate of Catherine Loughran.

Fitzgerald and Mrs. Schwartz are relatives. Fitzgerald is administering the estate of Catherine Loughran, and he said the money had not been given to him for the specific purpose of paying the inheritance tax. The jury in the case took only one ballot.

CAPTAIN, TOLD OF TITANIC'S ROCKETS REMAINED IN CABIN

Master of the Californian Testifies at the British Inquiry Into Disaster.

LONDON, May 14.—In the expectation that J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star Line, would be present, the hall and galleries were well filled today when the Board of Trade resumed its inquiry into the Titanic disaster.

Capt. Stanley Lord of the Californian was the first witness. Sir Rufus Isaacs, Attorney-General, indicated that there would be a material difference between the stories of the captain and his officers in regard to the steamer seen from the deck of the Californian the night of the catastrophe.

Capt. Lord said he was sure the steamer was not the Titanic, but a vessel of about the size of the Californian.

Vessel Sailed Away.

Capt. Lord said he had not been told that the deck lights of the vessel had disappeared. The second officer of the Californian, he said, reported in the morning that the vessel whose masthead light had been seen, had stopped during the night, but had started again at about 1 o'clock, and went off to the southwestward, her stern light being seen at 2 o'clock.

The witness continued: "It was reported in the morning the steamer which had been seen during the night had fired several rockets, but I saw only one. I thought it might have been a company signal or an acknowledgement of the Californian's Morse signals by which he had been trying to communicate with the steamer.

Would Have Heard Rockets.

If they had been distress signals I should have heard the reports of the rockets, as the vessels were only five miles apart. I did not hear that the Titanic had sunk until the morning. At that time I thought, as she was reported to be 19 miles away, we might have seen her sinking."

Allen Edwards, representing the Dockers' Union, asked Capt. Lord whether he and his officers had not been offended by a wireless message from the Titanic telling the Californian to "shut up."

Capt. Lord replied that they did not discuss it.

Other Officers Sent Out.

The other officers of the Californian were sent out of court during the examination of Capt. Lord. Capt. Lord said that both the apprentice and the second officer who were on the bridge during the night told him in the morning that he had been called during the night, and report made to him that a vessel near by had been firing rockets and that he had answered the calls.

He, however, could not remember doing so, and in the morning asked the second officer why he had not been called.

That officer replied that he, himself, would have called the Capitain if he had thought that the rockets were distress signals.

"While it would be dangerous to go through ice, if I had known the Titanic was sinking I should certainly have done so, although I do not believe I could have reached her in time," said Capt. Lord.

Saw Only Glare of Lights.

Gibson, an apprentice on the Californian, who was on the bridge of that vessel during the night of the disaster, said he could not see the outlines of the steamer which was lying near by, but only the glare of her lights. He said that while watching the steamer, which was firing rockets, the second officer remarked that the steamer was not firing rockets at sea for nothing, and that she appeared to be very queer out of the water and seemed to have a heavy list to starboard. He did not think the vessel was exactly in distress, but was in trouble of some sort. He thought she was a tramp steamer.

Lord Mersey asked: "Would you expect to see the glare of the light of a tramp steamer?"

"Yes."

Gibson told of his reporting the firing of rockets to Capt. Lord, a report which the captain had previously testified that he did not remember receiving. Gibson said that the captain was awake.

Rumor Names the Fiancee of Astor

Miss Margaret Andrews, 17, the Girl

Wedding to Be When He Becomes 21

MISS MARGARET ANDREWS (HOLDING WHIP) AND MRS. ADOLPH LADENBURG AT NEWPORT HORSE SHOW

Young Woman to Whom Gilded Youth Paid Marked Attention at Newport Is in Europe.

NEW YORK, May 14.—A rumor that Vincent Astor will marry Miss Margaret F. Andrews as soon as he reaches his majority in the fall is current in New York. The young millionaire, it is said, has paid marked attention to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Andrews. Last summer at Newport he was frequently seen with the young woman, who is only 17 years of age. At that time he often attended the tennis matches with her, together with young Herman Oelrichs, a chum, who was also attentive.

Miss Andrews is now in Europe with her mother and will return in June. While friends of young Astor maintained today that he had no idea of marrying until he had reached the age of 21, they did not deny that he was fond of Miss Andrews.

BALMER DROPS HIS THIRD DIVORCE SUIT; HIS WIFE IN COURT

Continuance Is Objected To and Dismissal Follows Before Clayton Judge.

Louis H. Balmer, manager of the Union Fuel Co., withdrew his divorce suit against Mary G. Balmer of 5201 North Broadway for the third time in the Clayton Circuit Court Tuesday. Mrs. Balmer and 25 witnesses, mostly women, were in court ready to contest the case.

Frank H. Haskins, attorney for Balmer, asked for a continuance. This was objected to by Mrs. Balmer's attorney, former Judge William Zachritz and Judge Wurdeman passed the case down to consider the motion for a continuance. Before it was called again Haskins had a conference with Balmer and announced that he would withdraw the suit and that his client would pay the costs. He said two important witnesses were in Illinois and could not be served.

Balmer first filed suit Oct. 24 last, and withdrew it a short time later. He again sued for divorce Jan. 1 and withdrew that suit Feb. 3.

Convent Resident Divorced.

In addition to the Balmer case several other divorce actions were on the dockets in both divisions of the Circuit Court at Clayton.

Mrs. Maud L. Brooks, who said she lived as a lodger in a convent in Normandy, obtained a divorce on her testimony that her husband was so jealous of her he even threatened to beat the priest to whom, as a Catholic, she made confession. She also exhibited a copy of a marriage license which she said her husband obtained June 18, 1904, in Philadelphia, a year after they separated. This permit licensed him to marry one Mary Stecker, although the man was not divorced at the time.

Judge Wurdeman also granted a decree to Mrs. Walter Durning of Valley Park. She testified that once when their child lay dying she sent her husband for a physician, but that he became intoxicated and failed to get the doctor. The child died that night, she testified, and she found her husband, still intoxicated, in Valley Park the next morning.

HELPED A LADY IN DISTRESS

After Many Trials, in Which Her Daughter Also Figured, Help Comes at Last to Mrs. Smith of Goldsboro.

"I was forty-eight years old, and suffered greatly from neuralgia," writes Mrs. Etta A. Smith of Goldsboro.

"I also had many other distressing symptoms, not uncommon among ladies.

"They were pains in shoulders and arms, in the left side and left thigh.

"My head ached, too, occasionally.

"A physician treated me and tried his best to help me, but could give me no relief.

"I, then, took Cardui, the woman's tonic, with the result that I am now well.

"My daughter has also used it and was greatly benefited.

"I can recommend Cardui to other suffering women."—Goldsboro, N. C.

When a lady, who has had to suffer from troubles peculiar to her sex, finds, at last, as Mrs. Smith did, in Cardui, a medicine which restores her to health and energy, can you blame her, for wishing others to know of her good fortune?

Reading Mrs. Smith's helpful experience should encourage you to try what Cardui will do for you.

MISSOURI WOMAN SLAIN AND BODY IS PUT INTO CISTERN

Coroner's Jury at Thayer Declares Death Was Not Caused by Drowning.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

THAYER, Mo., May 14.—What was at first believed to be the suicide of a despondent woman, was murder, according to the verdict of the Coroner's jury which investigated the case of Mrs. Fannie Sayers.

The woman's body was found in the cistern at her home, and it was believed she had drowned herself.

The curbing of the cistern had been removed before her body had been placed in it and had been cut out and made larger, so the body would pass through the opening with more ease.

Prosecuting Attorney J. D. Brooks attended an inquest which was held before Justice of the Peace Dan C. Cash of Thayer.

A jury composed of A. E. Chapman, H. C. Morris, N. D. Arnold, C. S. Hartman, L. M. Hobbs and Homer Bone returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find that deceased, Fannie Sayers, did not commit suicide; neither was her death caused by drowning, but otherwise. The manner and means of her death are unknown to the jury."

POPULAR SENATORIAL ELECTIONS.

The adoption by the House of the Senate's version of the seventeenth amendment to the Constitution, providing for the popular election of Senators, is the culmination of a long-continued and persistent public agitation.

For 18 years the people have waged an unflagging campaign for this reform. Five times since 1894 the House has passed a resolution to submit an amendment to the states, but the Senate has beaten it. In 1906 a conference of Representatives from 12 states urged the state legislatures to adopt an amendment. Two-thirds of the states have passed resolutions in some form favoring action, but less than that, about 20, have passed the amendment in legal form for ratification by Congress. Two years ago Senator Owens cited 37 states which had adopted measures for the popular nomination of Senators, thus making the legislatures mere registering machines to carry into effect the will of the voters.

The action of state legislatures in anticipation of the vote of Congress assures the adoption of the amendment. The amendment will remove all troublesome questions with regard to the force of the popular will registered at the polls. It will bring the Senate into closer touch with the people. It will eliminate "jack-potism" and the purchase of legislatures by ambitious millionaires. It will prevent disgraceful deadlocks arising from factional and personal fights over senatorial elections.

The success of this campaign for constitutional reform is a signal demonstration of the power of the people to change the Constitution in conformity with their will, without resorting to revolutionary methods which undermine the foundations of representative government.

Gov. Harmon's reply to Mr. Bryan shows self-restraint and good nature as well as emphatic directness. Mr. Taft might wisely use it as a model in framing replies to Mr. Roosevelt.

SENATOR KINNEY'S EXAMPLE.

The news of the critical condition of Senator Thomas E. Kinney causes profound regret, not only among his immediate personal friends, but on the part of many who have watched with interest and admiration his career as a public man. He is a striking example of the power of a man to mold his own character and destiny and to overcome all obstacles that stand in the way of useful achievement.

Senator Kinney's life and work refute the theory that a man is the product of environment and the slave of circumstance. They demonstrate that he is the master of his fate; the captain of his soul. Beginning as a newsboy, he graduated in the roughest school of ward politics. From the captainship of some of the worst political elements he rose to leadership in the movement for good government. He became a useful public servant whose experienced guidance and able assistance were sought by men and women devoted to political reform and social service. He was instrumental in placing on the statute books of the State a number of excellent laws relating to education and to social and industrial betterment. He championed the cause of women and children.

The qualities of fidelity, loyalty, courage and energy which served his friends and brought him mastership in his party organization were turned to good account in the service of the public. The community can better spare men of far larger opportunity and educational equipment than this ward boss who in the darkest places saw the light and kept the lamp of progress burning.

COST OF LIVING AND DELEGATES.

Bradstreet's pretends that between May 1, 1911, and May 1, 1912, living cost increased 9.7 per cent, an average of about .8 per cent a month. In the four weeks between April 1 and May 1, 1912, it is further pretended that, with the two most eminent personages in America in frantic competition to lighten the people's burdens, prices increased more than twice the monthly average, or 1.9 per cent.

Why should Bradstreet's learn of a 10-per-cent increase in the family burden, while Mr. Roosevelt, from whom nothing pertaining to the welfare of the people can be concealed, does not know anything about it? Could Mr. Taft, with the statistical resources of a great Government back of him, be kept in ignorance?

H. L. Preston of the New York Produce News affects to believe that the .8-per-cent increase a month is going to keep up. He pretends butter will go to 70 cents a pound by fall. Mr. Preston and Bradstreet's are trying to divert attention from the vital and paramount issues of this campaign. The Sunday Post-Dispatch interview with Chairman Underwood of the Ways and Means Committee indicates that he has joined the detestable conspiracy.

Why irrelevant, misleading talk about 70-cent butter and 9.7 increases in other things when the chief worry of two factions of the Republican party between clinches is not high cost of living, but high cost of delegates?

A "TOM FOOL PROPOSITION."

Many distinguished members of Congress and state party leaders do not agree with Mr. Roosevelt that a reform of presidential campaigns by limiting service in the executive office to one term of six years is a "tom fool proposition." Of 248 House members polled by the Post-Dispatch, 209 unqualifiedly favor the reform. Of 47 Senators polled, 37 favor it.

This formidable sentiment among elected representatives of the people reflects the strong public opinion aroused by the astounding and humiliating spectacle of the Republican presidential contest. The suggested amendment would have prevented one brawling candidate from violating his pledge not to seek a third term and resorting to the methods of a political mountebank to obtain a nomination. It would have prevented another brawling candidate now engaged in administering the great office of President from seeking a second term through methods Mr. Roosevelt denounces as the most scandalous use of patronage he has ever known.

It is significant that the opposition of several of those shown by the Post-Dispatch poll to be unfavorable is based on the extension of the term rather than on the prohibition of subsequent terms. A four-year term with ineligibility is favored by some. However, it will be wise to concede the two-year extension, if further terms are prohibited. It will make presidential elections with their interruptions to business one-third less frequent than now. To adopt the plan will be to return to a "tom fool" idea much favored by the fathers in the constitutional convention of 1787.

Many great men deprecated this substitution when the abuses of party government developed in the United States. As we have previously pointed out, it was one of the few features of the civil government of the Confederacy widely commended in the North as well as the South. The strength the amendment has already gained should bring action on it with a minimum of delay. The effect would be admirable if submitted to the states by Congress before the meeting of the national conventions.

"Roosevelt Flayed by Taft," is the favorite headline over the Ohio News. But the Colonel is wearing several skin suits this season.

THE SINS OF THE FATHER.

President Taft and his Cabinet are said to have decided not to have anything to do with the launching of the new dreadnaught Texas if she is to be christened by the daughter of Col. Cecil Lyon.

This will appeal to the country as a proper punishment upon that young woman for not holding her father in line for the President. The influence of pretty daughters upon strong fathers is too firmly established for Miss Lyon to say that she could not do anything. Her father has a chin, and she has a soft little forefinger. She can chuck and coo. Her father can give in. To wheedle and to be wheedled is to be father and daughter. It has ever been so, and Mr. Taft and his Cabinet had a perfect right to assume that it would be so when the seductive epithets of the Roosevelt boom fell upon Col. Lyon's ear.

It seems an extreme penalty to visit the sins of the father upon the daughter; but it must be recalled that the administration was dealing with the daughter, and never with the father.

If she still expects to break a bottle of wine over the bow of the Texas, the least she can do for the administration is to exhibit something that she has already broken over the head of her incorrigible dad.

New York banks are registering finger-prints of depositors. Better include similar records of their officers.

BUSINESS SENSE AND STRIKES.

All contracts between co-operative bodies depend on the sense of responsibility shown by test which proves conclusively that good faith is or is not binding. This consideration makes the action of the Chicago Typographical Union a matter of vital importance to all labor unions and to all business.

The violence of the struggle through which it was sought to draw the Chicago Typographical Union into a "sympathetic strike" is local to Chicago and not of general importance except as it serves to gauge the pressure under which, if the Typographical Union had failed to vindicate its sense, there might have resulted in Chicago and elsewhere a period of disorganization for all business, with no basis for binding agreement and conclusive settlement possible on any point.

When majorities in co-operative bodies bind themselves by vote and show the same sense of obligation which is expected of individuals, they establish and maintain the business basis. The vote of nearly two to one given by Chicago printers against the sympathetic strike showed ability to withstand pressure, good faith under the obligation of co-operative contract, and, above all, an intelligent appreciation of the first essential of business success for all labor unions, now and hereafter.

The sympathetic strike is not business but politics, and very foolish politics, as it demands the violation of all obligations in the alleged interest of "solidarity." Keeping business contracts is common honesty. All business success, common and uncommon, in co-operation depends on the power of the majority to keep its pledges. This is business honor and business sense through which organized labor succeeds in spite of folly and fanaticism.

SUCCESSFUL DEMAGOGUES.

One of the marks of a great demagogue is the ability to create turmoil, accompanied by an immense satisfaction in the noise which he is making. Such was the case with John Wilkes in England, with Gen. Boulanger in France and with Theodore Roosevelt in the United States. History affords many instances of the innate sympathy between the mob and the demagogue. They were born for each other and know each other from afar off.

Who in recent years has been more popular in Paris than the comic-opera General, Boulanger, when he was aiming at the reintroduction of the empire in France? He would right all wrongs, do everything that people had neglected, and, like the good King Henri IV, "put a pullet in every pot." Of all the historic demagogues and adventurers to whom Col. Roosevelt has been compared, he is, in many respects, most like Gen. Boulanger. Both of them suggest the same sort of trivial military renown, and they resemble each other in ability to keep the newspapers much occupied with their sayings and doings. The "brave General" of Paris and the political oracle of Oyster Bay are both children of fantasy rather than of fact, impressive drum majors in the parade of politics, but devoid of the faculties for good and evil that change republics into Caesarian despotisms. There was a strong comic element in the pomposity of Boulanger, and there is, undoubtedly, much to amuse in the fussy imperialism of Col. Roosevelt.

The French sense of the ridiculous finally killed Boulanger, and the American sense of humor will ultimately eliminate Col. Roosevelt.

Deaths from tuberculosis in St. Louis during 1911 were 132 per 100,000 of population, a gratifying decrease from the average of 185 during the prior 11 years. But tuberculosis still causes a large percentage of all deaths and can be further decreased with proper effort.

The winning score of 14 errors out of 200 words in the old-fashioned spelling match at Jefferson City indicates that they had better quit kicking orthography around in the Ozarks.

Both branches of Congress have now provided a constitutional safeguard against Lorimerism in the future. They have adopted the amendment providing for the popular election of senators.

The Panama Canal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Under one of the pictures of the Gatun locks of the Panama Canal in the Sunday Post-Dispatch is the headline "Western Entrance to Gatun Locks." As the canal runs east or south, there can be no "western entrance" to locks at Gatun on the Atlantic side or Miraflores or Pedro Miguel on the Pacific side. A great many people have the erroneous idea that the Isthmus of Panama runs north and south because it connects North America with South America. A glance at any map, however, will show that the Isthmus of Panama runs east and west and the canal north and south. In fact, the city of Panama on the Pacific side is several miles east of Colon on the Atlantic side.

DILLWYNN M. HAZLETT.

Cut Out Vice-President.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The false report in Chile that Congress is about to abolish our Vice-Presidency, ought to be true. Now that there is a Cabinet succession for the presidency we have no use for a Vice-President. The Senate can choose its presiding officer just as the House chooses a Speaker. ECONOMY.

A Warning to Auto Drivers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

This is a fair warning to automobile owners driving on Goodfellow avenue, between the Suburban tracks and Etzel avenue. These idiots driving cars, exceeding the speed limit and keeping mufflers wide open, making all kinds of noise possible, are hereby warned to drive over this street with muffler closed, quietly, and within the speed limit, or this street will be strewn with tacks and nails. Tacks and nails are a good deal cheaper than tires, so you can readily see who can stand the noise the longest. If this will not do the work, a load of buckshot will.

This is no bluff—all speed maniacs, noise-makers, disturbers of the peace, will have to keep off Goodfellow avenue, or every automobile driver who passes over Goodfellow avenue will suffer.

A RESIDENT OF THIS STREET.

For the Street Department.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Now that the appropriation has been passed and it is certain that the Industrial School will be located somewhere in the country, why not open the streets through the grounds of the present Industrial School? Improved streets leading from the north as well as from the south lead directly to the enclosed grounds of the school. These streets up to the present time have been closed to the public, making it necessary for those coming and going to make a trip around the grounds to get to the opposite side of the school. The streets immediately around the institution are not improved and the children coming and going to church and school get to their destination covered with clay. In case of a fire the department must make a circuit of about six blocks out of their way. A cinder path would be an improvement through Michigan and Compton avenues.

TAXPAYER.

A Dangerous Grade Crossing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Coming in from Clayton on the right side of Forsyth road, where the Rock Island railroad crosses it, there is a railroad danger sign about 12x12 inches, and a dirt mound high enough to hide any train until it gets on top of you.

Suppose after they kill a few people there, a larger sign will be erected and maybe the road may get careless with their money and grade off the dirt mound, which would probably cost as much as $15, but of course that's a big sum to spend before someone is killed.

DON'T YOU THINK SO?

More Park Comforts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I was much interested in two communications in the Wednesday issue of your paper: "Refreshments in Parks," and "Public Necessities First." I have lived in Chicago and will say there is much pleasure in taking your family to a public park in that city. What a difference here. Of all the large cities in which I have ever lived, less attention is paid to the working classes and to their amusements in St. Louis than any of them. Five thousand benches would not be too many to put in Forest Park alone. O'Fallon Park needs attention in this respect, also.

We have a few public comfort stations. There should be at least 50 from Baden to Carondelet, from the river to Skinker road. Oh, there's a lot of things we need. A. K.

Insane Might Be Cured.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why is it that the St. Louis Insane Asylum has no X-ray outfit or equipments for their doctors to examine and probe thoroughly for physical defects of the skull, and why don't they trephine patients like in Philadelphia with nine cases out of ten a proven success? Why is it 1200 to 1500 persons housed there are irretrievably lost, and no endeavor made to improve conditions, for the pension or appropriation granted by the city for each patient ought to be sufficient to hire a neurologist on their medical staff to delve deeper into each individual's mental and physical condition.

WILSON ENDS GUFFEYISM.

From the Springfield Republican.

Mr. Watterson indulged in a nasty fling recently at Gov. Woodrow Wilson's Pennsylvania delegates as having been won through an alliance with Guffey. But there is no Guffeyism in that delegation. The Pennsylvania Democratic convention that indorsed Gov. Wilson's candidacy drove the last nail into Col. Guffey's political coffin and placed the party in the Keystone State under the control of such men as ex-Mayor Guthrie of Pittsburg, Vance McCormick of Harrisburg and Congressman Palmer, who for years have fought the debasing leadership of the Standard Oil Colonel. If there could ever be a chance for the Democrats to carry Pennsylvania in a presidential election, the present situation may produce it. For the rival Flinn and Penrose machines must still fight it out for final supremacy in the Republican party, and meanwhile there is chaos on the Republican side. The Democratic party in Pennsylvania has not been under such good leadership for many years as it is today, and the indorsement of Gov. Wilson for the presidency has something more than the value Mr. Watterson gave it.

LEE O'NEIL BROWN AGAIN.

From the Chicago Daily News.

After Gov. Deneen had called the General Assembly in special session it was discovered that some matters demanding attention were not covered by the call. Therefore a call for another special session was issued to meet at the same time as the one already called. The distinction between the two sessions is merely technical. Yet some men in the Legislature are demanding for each of these two special sessions mileage allowance and the maximum of $50 for incidental expenses.

The Senate very properly has refused to appropriate money to meet these demands. Now the House gang, led by Lee O'Neil Browne, has caused a deadlock in legislation by refusing to vote for the measures that the special session was called to enact. Browne boldly admitted on the floor of the House that his purpose in opposing the pending legislation is to force the Senate to approve the double items for mileage and expense money.

The Waitress Replied.

From Everybody's Magazine.

A couple of drummers, having a few hours' layover in a small town, decided to dine at the village hotel. On looking over the bill-of-fare, they noted that young "fry" were "special" for that meal, so one of the men turned to the pretty little waitress and asked.

"How's the chicken?"

The young lady blushed, then answered: "Oh, I'm all right. How are you?"

An Enviable Job.

Why Country People Move to the City

On the 7th of April, William S. Boyd and Miss Hallie French of Arma were married, and next evening a charivari party visited them. They had cowbells, tin pans, shotguns, and dynamite. A hole was shot through the roof, trees in the yard torn up and a siding of the house damaged. The serenaders were offered cigars and candy, but demanded money. This was refused, when dynamite was exploded, the window lights being broken, the foundation damaged and the yard torn up. Eighteen young men were arrested and 12 convicted, each being required to pay $26.80 fine and costs.—Girard Press.

He had to come up town to get it taken out.—DeKalb County (Mo.) Herald.

MISSOURI MEMORIES—A SONG.

Take me home again, take me home
again,
Where the roses wild by pathways
With the snowy apple blossoms,
Are bursting forth in fragrance o'er the vale,
Where the Ozarks gray and craggy,
Blending in the hazy distance,
With evening's purple shadows in the dale.

Refrain: Take me home again, songbirds call in vain,
O'er the soul a shadow's falling
When the heart for home is calling,
For Missouri I am sighing,
Home love ever is undying;
I want to see her valleys green again.

Take me home again, take me home
again,
Where the sparkling crystal rivers
Thro' her canyons and her valleys
Are flowing where the drowsy sunbeam shines;
There the thrush intones his carols,
There the squirrels wild are playing
And leaping 'mongst the tangled wildwood vines.

Take me home again, take me home
again,
To my old Missouri cottage
For my heart is in her keeping,
The flawless gem in fair Columbia's crown:
Let her summer zephyrs fan me,
Let me love within her waters
And see the leaves in autumn turning brown.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

ETIQUETTE.

KATE.—Party invitations for girls and boys should be sent individually.

CHARLOTTE.—Bridesmaid is advised not to wear lace cap when the bridal party goes calling in the afternoon.

PERCY.—Don't eat candy or chew gum in a theater. A man may check his coat or not. A girl usually wears her wrap to her seat, where she allows it to slip from her shoulders. The man may help her to arrange it. A man follows the usher down the aisle, preceding the girl, then stands aside while the girl enters.

HEALTH HINTS.

SICK.—What do you mean by "lung trouble?" What does your physician say?

S. A.—Chronic inflammation of the middle ear should be treated by a specialist.

"THANK YOU.—Cod liver oil will "keep" in the summer if placed in a refrigerator.

FREEZING.—Persistent exercise, or work, with massage and electricity, might warm your cold hands. See that your digestion is good.

L. P. A. R.—For malaria, three grains quinine every three or four hours for several days, and regulate bowels. Preventives, mosquito netting, screens and high, dry ground.

C. R.—For bad breath: Discover and remove the cause. It may come from one of many causes; it is often the result of indigestion. If you still wish a mouth wash, the following is a good one. Thymol, 7½ grains; borax, 15 grains; distilled water, 1 pint.

W. S. B.—Hot water may possibly help to digest the poorly chewed food loaded upon the stomach; but why overload at any time? Use the will God has given you and get away from the table on the instant you feel that you are about to take a forkful too much. Don't be a mollycoddle.

XXX.—Mrs. Rorer says: One bolted mouthful will upset all the good that you have gained by careful living for a week. Permanent good comes only from vitalizing blood, made from a wise selection of perfectly-cooked and correctly-eaten foods. I have noted frequently that nervous people, after a heavy meal, composed of soup, meat, vegetables, salad and dessert, are incapacitated during the entire afternoon or evening for the slightest mental exertion. This is not always due to overeating, but sometimes to an unwise mixture. The nervousness is increased to the "fidgets." Rest immediately after eating, but do not sleep except, perhaps, to "nod" in your chair. For the time being give up late hours. When resting keep the body in a comfortable position, and relax every muscle. Nervous women should not wear tight clothes nor high-heeled shoes. If you must work, drop all thought of it the moment you leave the office. If you are a student, and must read or study, select a topic entirely different from the one you follow daily, or read some interesting, light book. Bathe regularly, in cold or warm water as best suited to your especial condition. Take cold baths in the morning and warm baths in the evening. Hot baths at night are, as a rule, restful. It is dangerous to bathe immediately after eating. Occupy yourself—many persons are nervous for lack of occupation. Do not think too much about what you are eating, and never talk about food at the table.

LAW POINTS.

HARRY.—Barbed wire division fence may be put up for rear yard.

J. B.—Having paid in advance upon renting the premises, such becomes the contract for all future payments, and if not so paid owner can sue immediately either for rent possession and rents, or for possession only; in the former case you can stay by paying rent and costs, and to make you vacate thereafter one month's notice is necessary. In the latter case you must vacate. If he has not brought suit, pay your delinquent rent at once (he must accept it), and by so doing he cannot compel you to vacate without the legal notice.

ANXIOUS.—Husband having deserted his wife for another woman will not be able to obtain a divorce and custody of his children, the wife appearing and mentioning such facts to the Judge. Besides, wife may have him punished for deserting his wife and minor children (see Prosecuting Attorney, Municipal Courts Building, who will try to have him return and support his family or prosecute). Should you not appear in event he sues for divorce and he obtains it, no child of his would thereby be barred from being capable of inheriting his estate. You may sue, asking for custody of children, alimony, fees for attorney you employ, etc. This may be done, should he bring the action, by you filing a cross charge.

K. K.—We cannot say what may happen; whether holder would bid in property for full sum of the notes you owe (together with costs) or not. If possible keep up payments and try to dispose of same, selling your equity (the amount you have paid in so far) and have buyer assume the payments still to be made. This you may do without consulting holder of deeds of trust, as he has nothing to say regarding that. Should bid at sale be less than amount of notes and accrued interest and costs of sale you could be sued for difference and holder, upon obtaining judgment, may use any lawful means to collect, garnish salary, etc., or attach anything not exempted to head of family.

MISCELLANEOUS.

L. C. H.—Phone United Cigar Stores for clerkship.

INTERESTED.—Terminal watchman, $50 to $55 a month.

PH. B.—Examination for laboratory assistant, old postoffice, 3d and Olive.

MABEL.—Time will take the rustle and stiffness out of silk. You might try a hot iron on it.

XY.—The Female Hospital has ceased to be what its name implies; in fact, it has lost that name.

A. B.—There is no Red Cross school for training nurses. Red Cross nurses are volunteers from various schools.

H. N. J.—Apply to Secretary of State, Jefferson City, for State chauffeur license. Cost $5, with fee of $2 in addition.

HARRY.—Only trained actors are employed for moving pictures. You would have to learn pantomime thoroughly in dramatic school. Pay $15 to $40 a week.

DEPOSITOR.—The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of postal deposits. Deposits draw 2 per cent if not withdrawn within a year.

HISTORY.—The History of America, by William Robertson, D. D., etc. (Edinburgh, 1800), in 3 volumes, is worth $2. A single volume would practically be of no value.

EX-SOLDIER.—The politicians of all parties in Congress have voted to pension the old soldiers, and there has been much special legislation in their behalf. The old soldier has no noticeable opposition in any legislative body, so far as we have observed. No nation on earth has ever been so generous to its soldiers as the United States. Enormous sums have been voted for them.

A.—To make brown leather: Mordant with bichromate of potash; before this is quite dry the dye-liquor is applied. If color dries too red, reduce by a single application of the mordanting fluid. To prepare mordant, put some crystals of bichromate of potash into a pint of cold water. Let this remain 1 hour, but shake it frequently; then pour off the liquid from the undissolved crystals and dilute this liquid with warm water until it is of a pale straw color. For the dye-liquor, dissolve Bismarck brown in boiling hot water, 1 oz. to the gal.; allow this to digest 1 hour then strain off the clear liquid from the tarry matter. Apply with a brush quickly, with fully charged brushfuls. By varying the bichromate of potash solution, various shades of brown are obtained, but it should not be used too freely or the leather will be liable to crack.—Spon's Recipes.

BOTH SIDES OF THE SHIELD

A Romance of Love and War

By Maj. Archibald W. Butt

One of the Titanic's Heroes and Former Military Aide to President Taft

(Copyright, 1905, by J. B. Lippincott Co.)

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTER.

Palmer, a Northern newspaper man, is sent to the far South to study social and industrial conditions and to report them in a series of letters to his paper. On a Georgia train he meets Col. Turpin, a Southerner of the old school, who lives on a rambling plantation that is run by his son, Bud, and his daughter, Ellen. The Colonel falls into talk with Palmer, whom he at first mistakes for a lawyer coming to foreclose the plantation's mortgage. Palmer undeceives him, but can see the old man is deeply troubled.

CHAPTER I.

"I DON'T know," he said; "I can't tell. Up to this time Bud has been able to meet the interest regularly, and as long as he does that I suppose we have little to fear."

Presently I asked what accommodations were to be had at Oglethorpe.

"Mighty poor, mighty poor, sir; that is, if you stay in the town. But if you are going to be long in the vicinity, you might get board in one of the farm houses outside of the town."

I thanked him and then explained that I was a writer and that I was collecting material for a story.

"A book?" he said, showing great interest at once and carefully scanning my face through his spectacles.

"Yes," I answered, which was the truth, at least, for I had suddenly conceived the idea of collecting data for a novel; for where else, I thought, could there be better characters and scenery than right here? My aged companion looked thoughtful for a moment and then said:

"May I ask if you have any references, or if you know anybody in these parts?"

I mentioned several persons within the State whom my father had known, and these seemed to satisfy him, for he continued:

"If you are of a mind to accept my hospitality, we will be glad to put you up and to share what we have with you. I guess Bud would enjoy your company, and Ellen and Mary—Mary's my wife—would make you welcome."

"It will be a great convenience to me," I said, and thanked him, "for I know nothing of this country and you seem to be very well acquainted."

"I ought to be," he said, "for my family has been in these parts since Gen. Oglethorpe, that great philanthropist and friend of the poor, first came to Georgia. The last time he came to this country he made my great-grandfather's house his headquarters when on his way from Fort Augusta to Savannah. Just before the revolution he sent my grandfather a portrait of himself in token of the esteem in which he held his father. He lived to see the colony he had planted become an independent State, you know sir, and he seemed mighty proud of the record old Georgia made during the war of the Revolution. The Pines, as we call our home, was built just after his death, and his picture has the place of honor in it now. It is a sorry place since the Yankees came through here and used it as a stable, but we keep it with the hope that some day the fortunes of the family may go out of their eclipse and that some worthy son will arise to restore it to its former position of importance in the Commonwealth. But what there is left you will be welcomed to, my lad."

Before I could properly thank him the whistle blew and our train pulled into Oglethorpe. The Colonel advanced and, calling out to an old negro, whom he addressed as Jefferson, ordered him to bring the wagon nearer, as there was a trunk to get.

"If I know'd yer had gists, Mars Geo'ge, I'd sure have brought the coach," said the old darky, looking apologetically at the wagon he was on. The Colonel told him that I was going to stay some time, and that he "reckoned" I would know all they had soon and so he would not begin by offering excuses.

"By the way, sir," he said, as we stepped off the platform, "I have not the pleasure of knownig your name, though you have heard mine often enough this morning." I had, indeed, overlooked that detail or else felt indifferent to it, but I handed him my card, which he read carefully and then asked:

"I reckon you ain't any relation to the Palmers of Kentucky? I roomed with two men from that State of your name years ago when I was at Princeton."

I told the Colonel that I was not from Kentucky, but that there was some kinship. I had intended telling him that the families had never met and that in all probability the Kentucky Palmers would not know of me, but I did not finish my explanation, for as soon as I mentioned kinship he grasped my hand warmly and said:

"Then, sir, you can make yourself at home in my house as long as you care to, for there was never two finer fellows than those Palmer boys, even if they did join the Yankee Army during the war. I tell you, sir, I am proud and happy to entertain one of their blood at the Pines. And now, Jefferson, drive fast, for we must let Miss Ellen know we have a guest."

The Pines was a distance of some five miles from the town limits. It was appropriately named, for after we entered the grounds we passed into a primeval forest of tall and stately pine trees. The long needles waved in the wind, and there was a mournful cadence in the branches, different from the song we heard in the Northern forests. The ground was covered with pine straw and it might have been falling there and ungathered for generations, so thickly did it seem to lie. We crossed a branch over which there had been built an old stone bridge, now covered with vines.

"That, sir, was built as a memorial to Gen. Oglethorpe," said my old host, seeing my curiosity, for the bridge was out of all proportion to the size of the stream. "When the General paid his memorable visit to this place it was right there, sir, that he drew from his pocket a small flask, and after offering my grandfather a dram took one himself. You must know, sir, that the great philanthropist was supposed to be 'a teetotaler,' and certainly never took a drink in the presence of any of his colonists for fear of setting them a bad example. That little act shows as nothing else could the great confidence and esteem in which he held my worthy progenitor."

I was anxious to hear more of this episode, but feared to get the Colonel started on what was evidently to him an important bit of family history, and which I suspected strongly had become a hobby. "Some day Ellen shall walk here with you," he added, "and show you the inscriptions on it. You will find them interesting."

Ellen again. I was beginning to feel the keenest anxiety to meet this Ellen and to wonder what she could be—half cook and half lady, I had begun to think from the little bits I had picked up concerning her during the day. We passed from the pine trees into a long avenue of cedars, and when we emerged from this the Pines in all its solitary and lonely grandeur stood before us, rich in coloring from the setting sun that bathed it in a crimson glow. As I looked at it in wonderment it might have been a dream out of the past that had taken shape and floated now across my vision. Its front and sides were flanked with Colonial columns of the Doric type, and the low wings running at right angles to the body of the house were covered with vines which almost hid the low porch. This porch was supported by diminutive columns of the same graceful curves.

I was so moved by the beauty of the whole at first that I failed to note that some of the columns were on the point of falling and that others were crumbling to decay. The plaster had fallen from many of them, showing a dull red brick behind. But these evidences of decay gave an additional charm to the scene, augmenting its perfectfon as a whole and keeping it in perfect harmony with its owner and the neighborhood of that section. It seemed to typify the generation then living there and fighting against its own decay. I was awakened from my dreamy thoughts by hearing the Colonel calling loudly for someone to get the horse. Presently there came from around one of the wings a little, half-naked urchin, who said that Mrs. Turpin had gone to the Trig funeral, and that Miss Ellen was cooking the dinner, and that "Young Marsa" had not come from the fields.

"Then tell Miss Ellen, Sammie, to put another finger in the pie, for I have brought a guest home with me. Now, sir," turning to me, "if you will come with me I will show you your room and bid you make yourself at home."

We passed under a huge doorway and entered a large hall which was as wide again as any room I could remember in my grandfather's house in New England. It was almost bare of furniture. There were two or more large mahogany sofas which had once been lined with black horsehair, but this latter was so much worn that the matting showed beneath it in places, and in others it was patched with bright-colored calico and sometimes with pieces of faded silk. The Colonel led me up a flight of stairs, bare of carpet, but clean and polished. "You will be right over the billiard room," he said, opening a door which led into a beautifully lighted room on the east side, standing in the center of which was a large, canopied bed. "If you care for billiards," he continued, "I will wager that Ellen can give you 10 points and beat you out. And now, sir, we have dinner at 6 o'clock, for Bud likes to have his dinner when he comes from the field instead of in the middle of the day, as he says he feels more like a gentleman. Until then, sir, I hope you rest well."

I had not asked the question before, but now summoned the courage.

The Jarr Family

(Mrs. Jarr means to have cheer in the home, even if she must scold all day.)

Written for the Post-Dispatch By ROY L. McCARDELL

"WHERE'S the boy?" asked Mr. Jarr, as he seated himself at the table, after Gertrude, the light running domestic, had sounded the tocsin.

"He's like his father; he doesn't care how he delays Gertrude and his mother!" replied Mrs. Jarr. "But if you and he weren't given anything to eat when you came late to meals there'd be some change in your behavior!"

"I can't help being late sometimes! my dear," said Mr. Jarr. "But, as you say, there is no excuse for the boy."

"There is this excuse: that he sees you are not punctual and it's hard enough to keep a girl these days, and a good many of them wouldn't be as good-natured about it as Gertrude—and even she is getting impatient. Mrs. Stryver has dinner punctually at 7, and Mr. Stryver dines at his club if he is detained downtown past that hour. He knows better than to come home, for all the servants the Stryvers have, and expect to get his meals at all hours."

"Not being a prominent clubman, I can't do like Mr. Stryver," remarked Mr. Jarr.

"And Clara Mudridge-Smith says her husband is always on time to dinner. She's dieting and he can't eat anything but crackers and milk, but, just the same, they don't have their meals higgledy-piggledy as we do."

"How do the Rangles do?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"I'm not interested in how the Rangles do, nor how Gus does nor the Siavinskys or any of YOUR friends. I am interested in what WE should do!"

At this point Master Jarr came sliding in quietly and took his seat at the table.

"Look at your hands!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "You go right away and wash your hands!"

Master Jarr left the table for this purpose and returned shortly.

"Why didn't you wash your wrists?" asked his mother. "Do you go to school like that? What does the teacher think?"

"Maw, kin I have 5 cents? Our gang's got a baseball club and we each have got to give 5 cents to buy a baseball," said the boy, ignoring the question regarding what his teacher thought.

Mrs. Jarr's reply was that Master Jarr should eat his soup, as he was keeping everything waiting.

"I don't want any soup," whined the boy. "Soup gives me a headache!"

"You'll eat your soup or you'll get a whipping," admonished his mother. "And there's rice pudding for dessert, and you'll eat that, too!"

This fact being brought to his attention made the boy disclaim any desire for the dessert in question. He said it hurt his throat.

"If I eat all my soup and if I eat all my wice puddin' tan I go to the movin' pictures?" asked the little Jarr girl.

"No, you cannot!" said Mrs. Jarr, emphatically.

Whereupon the little girl commenced to cry and a tear fell in her soup, whereat her brother laughed and so did she.

"Why don't you correct them?" asked Mrs. Jarr of her husband. "Such manners at the table I never saw."

Mr. Jarr shook his finger at the children and told them not to annoy their mother.

"They don't annoy me half as much as you do," said Mrs. Jarr. "At least, they don't read the newspapers at the table!"

Having gotten her whole family into subjection, Mrs. Jarr served the second course and then looked around and remarked:

"My goodness! There isn't a funeral in the house. Why is everybody so glum?"

Whereupon Master Jarr, thinking to enliven the proceedings, started to whistle.

Mrs. Jarr silenced him with a look. Then she said:

"And why shouldn't the children see the moving pictures?"

"I didn't say they shouldn't," spoke up Mr. Jarr.

"And kin I have some more rice pudding?" asked Master Jarr. "I'll eat a whole lot if paw will take us to the moving pictures!"

"I wanta go too!" cried little Miss Jarr.

And fearful that she would be left out of the proposed evening's pleasure, she commenced to cry again.

"Isn't it enough to try the patience of a saint?" exclaimed Mrs. Jarr. "Here when we try to give the children some pleasure they act like little savages!"

At these dire words little Miss Jarr checked her emotion, and after dinner the Jarr family moved on in a mass formation to the movies.

"Anyway," said Mrs. Jarr, as they arrived in time to see "Pedro's Revenge" displayed on a screen to the accompaniment of a piano and a drum, "they are good children and deserve a little pleasure!"

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By Helen Rowland.

CLEOPATRA was clever enough to make fools of men, but it took a fluffy, brainless little thing like Helen of Troy to make men make fools of themselves.

Solomon had the old-fashioned, table d'hote idea of matrimony, but Henry VIII and Bluebeard were more up-to-date; they took their wives a la carte.

Medusa must have been an intellectual woman, since merely to look at her turned men into stone.

Apollo used a lyre in his love-making, but most men don't need any such artificial adjuncts nowadays.

After all, it may not have been Cleopatra's superior charm, but her superior cook, and the way she allowed Marc Anthony to put his feet on the divans and throw his cigarette ashes all over the house that held him to her side all those years.

No doubt Prince Charming, after falling in love with Cinderella's beautiful foot, would have been shocked and grieved to have discovered that she had a brain at the other end.

Bluebeard isn't the only man who has ever gone to the altar with a closet full of dead loves on his conscience.

The Honeymoon

By James Alden.

"THIS," said the guide, "is the American side of the Falls. Over there is the Canadian side. That point of land"—

"Are you sure you love me better than ever before?" whispered Helen.

"A thousand times surer, precious," murmured Warren, kissing Helen right where a grain of rice lodged in the ruching around her neck.

"As I was saying," continued the guide, "that is Goat Island over there. The edge of the falls is wearin' away where you see them jagged"—

"Isn't the sky just heavenly?" sighed Helen.

"Not so heavenly as you, Loved One," responded Warren, squeezing her hand.

"That's the Maid of the Mist plowing up through them rapids," insisted the guide, pointing to a little craft down in the surging whirlpool.

Helen and Warren, hand in hand, were gazing in an opposite direction at a little cottage.

"Won't it be perfect bliss when we settle down in a little cottage like that?" she said.

"Worlds of bliss, Helen, my angel," replied Warren, stepping to her left side because his left hand was tired out from squeezing her fingers while his right hand had had an hour's rest.

"The last man to go over them Falls was a nut, an' he never come outer the"—

Helen squeezed Warren's arm and exclaimed:

"My hero, are you getting tired of me?"

"Tired, Helen?" Why, precious, I could go about with you forever and forever in a haze of happiness, for you are the only"—

"Right here is where the ice forms mountains high in winter and a man once"—

The guide started to tell his story in a loud voice. But Helen frowned and whispered audibly to Warren:

"Tomorrow, dearest, we will come out here alone so we can talk to each other and not be interrupted."

"We will, my Thoughtful One," answered Warren.

The guide wiped his perspiring brow. Hardened as he was to honeymooners, this was getting to be the limit.

"We will now visit the Cave of the Winds," said the guide, and he led them down where they donned rubber coats and went in behind the falls where the spray drenched them and the roar was deafening.

"This is called the most wonderful spot in the world!" shouted the guide.

But Helen, clinging to Warren, shouted:

"Are you damp, my Precious One?"

"No, Helen, my darling. Nothing can dampen our love."

Turning pale, but still resolute, the guide led them out to another grand view of the falls.

"There," he explained, with great care, "is what is considered the very best view of these here falls. All the artists paint 'em from this here spot. You see"—

"Oh, lovey-dove, did oo prick your hanny on my belt pin?" gasped Helen; and there were tears in her eyes as she saw the tiny drop of blood on Warren's finger.

"Oh, that's nothing. I would shed every drop of my blood just for a hug, my Ownest Own," exclaimed Warren, kissing his bride on her blushing cheek. (That is, on one of her blushing cheeks).

The guide, sturdy man as he was, hardened to years of tramping about mighty Niagara, trembled and clutched at his heart—or was it his stomach?

A tiny speck showed at the edge of the Falls. It was a boat with three helpless men in it, about to be dashed to death over the Falls. Here, at last, was something. Here was an opportunity. Shouting and pointing, the guide fairly outdid himself.

"Look!" he yelled, "here's something few people ever see. A boatload of men about to be dashed to death. Look! Oh, look!"

And he danced about in his eagerness and excitement, knowing that at last he could make them listen to him.

Were they frozen with horror?

The guide turned to see.

With their backs to the Falls over which the doomed men were plunging, Helen and Warren were clasped in each other's arms, kissing each other tenderly.

With a groan of despair and his hand again clutched over his heart—or was it his stomach again?—the poor guide leaped headlong into the whirlpool to rise no more.

Pickled Peppers.

"NOW, dearie," said the nurse, "I want you to learn this nice little poem about 'Peter Piper Picked a Peck of Pickled Peppers.'"

'Shan't!" answered the Boston child, much in the manner of other children.

"Oh, naughty, naughty! Why, Waldo, why won't you learn this pretty poem?"

"For two reason," answered Waldo. In the first place, the alliteration of the line you quote is so excessive as to destroy any literary finish that such adventitious aids to metrical composition might lend if used more sparingly. And, in the second place, consider the impossibility of picking peppers which have already been pickled. The whole thing is beneath the attention of any intelligent person."—Boston Traveler.

Nothing Is New.

"The robber baron enticed them into his castle and robbed them; then cast them adrift, penniless."

"Gee! I didn't know there were summer hotels in those old days."

Severing Old Ties.

WILLIE was sent out by his mother to the woodshed to saw and split some stove wood out of a pile of old railroad ties. Going outdoors shortly after, she found the youth sitting on the sawhorse with his head bowed down in his hands. She asked her hopeful why he didn't keep at his work.

"My dear mother," he replied with much feeling, "I find it so hard, so very hard, to sever old ties."—Lippincott's Magazine.

To Keep the Face Fresh, Clear, Youthful.

(National Hygienic Review.)

More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face clean, fresh, youthful, there's nothing better than common mercolized wax. It absorbs the soiled or faded worn-out skin particles. Using cosmetics simply adds unwholesomeness to the complexion. That's the difference. By all means, acquire the mercolized wax habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the druggist's, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off next morning. There's no detention indoors, the old skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you're using anything. When in a week or two the alluring youthful, rosellke underskin is fully in view—well, you won't want, or need, a make-up complexion after that.

For obstinate wrinkles a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint witch hazel, surpasses massage cream for results.—ADV.

Home Helps for the Hair and Complexion

The right sort of care of hair and scalp requires little time and is productive of a healthy scalp and silky, shimmery hair. Canthrox shampoos solve the problem for women troubled with oily, "stringy," unmanageable hair, and are so enjoyable that shampoo day is pleasantly looked forward to. A teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water is enough mixture, and its regular use insures a healthy scalp and a wealth of beautiful, fluffy hair.

A spurmax lotion is excellent for clearing the skin of all impurities, and is so superior to powder that once it is used it will never be discarded. To make, dissolve 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water) and add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. The use of this lotion gives to any skin a charm and elegance unobtainable any other way.—ADV.

MOTHER SEEKING HER SON

Olney (Ill.) Boy Is Hunted in St. Louis.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller of Olney, Ill., has written to the police here asking them to look out for her runaway son, a boy of 14, who has been missing since last Tuesday. He is described as small for his age, with a thin face and light brown hair.

When he left home he wore a dark suit, light blue shirt, pink tie, brown crush hat and tan shoes which he had blackened in Mattoon, Ill.

CHICAGO, May 14.—George W. Fitzgerald, former teller of the sub-treasury, under indictment for the alleged theft of $173,000 from the Government, will be placed on trial in the United States District Court on June 20. The trial is expected to last about two weeks.

MRS. SCOTT'S SUFFERING OVER

Doctors Advised an Operation. How She Escaped Told by Herself.

"For more than a year I suffered agonies from female ailments and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to the hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you what I suffered with backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my foot to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothered spells, felt dull and dragged all the time. I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation."—Buckner, Mo.

"I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written a year ago, I would have been saved so much suffering, for today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house again and do every bit of my own work. Every one in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has restored me to health, and everywhere I go I recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. Lizzie Scott, Buckner, Mo.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medical Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

NOW FOR "FAMOUS 1912 FOLLIES" AT CENTURY THEATER

Max Koenigsberg's Clever Comedy Has Its Premier Production Tonight.

The premier performance of Max Koenigsberg's clever and tuneful musical comedy, "Famous 1912 Follies," takes place at the Century Theater this evening and all signs point to the scoring of a brilliant success, surpassing even that of "Famous Follies," Mr. Koenigsberg's first work, last season.

Tonight's performance is for the benefit of the Famous and Barr Welfare Association, composed of the employes of the Famous and Barr department store, and the advance sale has been so heavy that a house crowded to the doors is practically assured.

The new musical comedy will be presented by a company of 75, composed exclusively of Famous and Barr employes. The performance will be given under the direction of Mrs. J. D. Hamburger and Mr. Noel Poepping, the latter also conducting the orchestra and directing the big musical numbers.

The play's entertaining story depicts the daily happenings in a big metropolitan department store, and is deliciously flavored with many catchy and melodious songs and novel situations. This year's play is bigger, brighter, breezier and better than ever before, it is confidently announced, and an excellent evening's entertainment is a foregone conclusion.

The story is told in two acts, the first showing the cloak and millinery department in the new Famous and Barr Co. store, and the second the annual mask ball of the Famous and Barr Co. Welfare Association. There are some strikingly novel original songs introduced in the score and some big scenic effects, one in particular being uncommonly ingenious and impressive and coming as a sudden surprise that cannot fail to score a hit.

The company is excellently trained and will give a performance worthy of a professional organization.

MR. and MRS. OTTO MERSMAN of Vandeventer place, their daughter, Miss Isabelle Mersman, and Miss Dorothy Niedringhaus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Niedringhaus, who have been abroad since January, arrived in New York Monday and are expected home Wednesday. Mrs. Niedringhaus went on to New York to meet her daughter and will return with her.

Mrs. Auguste B. Ewing of McPherson avenue has returned from Minneapolis, where she has been visiting her mother, Mrs. L. A. Day.

Miss Olivin M. Hutchins, daughter of J. B. Hutchins of 7200 Michigan avenue, and Joseph F. Singer will be married Wednesday morning at mass at St. Boniface's Church, the Rev. Father Hermann Neiters officiating. Miss Sophie Remp will be the maid of honor and Eugene Padberg will serve as best man. After the ceremony there will be a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride. Mr. Singer and his bride will be at home after May 20 at 7200 Michigan avenue.

Miss Odessa Lee of Chattanooga, Tenn., is sponding a few weeks with Mrs. Gene Broeckaert of 3531 South Grand avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greve have closed their city residence, 4408 Morgan street, and have moved to their Crystal Spring farm, near St. Charles, Mo., for the summer.

Mrs. Katherine Hacke celebrated her silver wedding anniversary on Saturday evening, May 4. Those present were: Messrs. and Mmes. K. Hacke, T. Wachtel, Linders, Mrs. Brunstetter, Misses Carrie Hacke, Minnie Hacke, Mayme Lingeman, Mildred Beck, Mayme Wilkining, Celia Knebel, Estella Knebel, Emily Mertz; Messrs. A. Reel, H. Volgt, G. Van Hee, A. Van Hee, H. Johnson, S. Engel, G. Seeger, W. Harms, D. Paxton, W. Borgeld, E. Taschner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Herrmann of 3721 Accomac street announce the betrothal of their daughter, Bertha Madeline Trautmann, to Edward T. Bosch of Grand Haven, Mich. The marriage will be an event of the early fall and after a brief honeymoon the young couple will reside in Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Orren W. Stone have given up their apartment in the Knickerbocker and gone to Carthage, Mo., for several months. Mrs. Stone's mother and sisters, Mrs. John P. Boogher and Misses Ethel and Elise Boogher, have gone to their summer home at Blowing Rock, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Van Raalte of 4217 West Pine boulevard have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Adelia Van Raalte, and Eugene Meyer. The wedding will probably take place in the late summer.

An out-of-town engagement of interest here is that of Miss Lila Haskall and Dr. Carl Burdick of New York, which was made known at the Monticello Students' Alumnae meeting, which was held at the St. Louis Woman's Club last week. Miss Haskall is the sister of the late Miss Harriet Haskall, who was so many years principal of Monticello Seminary, with whom she made her home. The wedding will take place in June in New York, where Miss Haskall has lived for several years.

"Karo" Stands for the Best of Syrups and Full Net Weight

INSIST on the Karo label. Tell the grocer you won't put up with any of the inferior substitutes being placed on the market.

You know what you pay for when you get Karo. It is the syrup of known quality, and the quantity is always full net weight, marked plainly on the can.

Its delicate flavor has met with the highest popular favor.

Karo is always the same delicious syrup—rich in nourishment and especially wholesome.

Karo is the only syrup known and asked for by name all over the country.

Everybody likes it. Seventy million cans consumed in 1911.

Karo is absolutely pure. It is made from the hard, ripe kernels of Indian corn by special process—in closed receptacles—untouched by human hands. Packed in air-tight cans.

Karo is as delicious as honey—as wholesome as butter—yet costs you much less than either.

Wherever sweetening is needed in cooking you'll find Karo useful.

Why not try Karo to-day? Your grocer has two kinds—Karo Crystal White, Karo Cane Flavor. You can readily tell the Karo label on the sealed cans.

Greatest Bed-Davenport Value We Ever Offered

Magnificent $25 Bed-Davenport

Exactly as illustrated

This is the offer that created such a furore Monday.

$1 CASH—$1 A MONTH

By Fortunate Chance

we have secured another large lot of these handsome Bed-Davenports, and they are now on sale at the same remarkably low price that prevailed in our previous sale—offering an opportunity for those who could not be supplied before to secure one of these splendid pieces of furniture at a wonderful saving.

The Construction

These Bed-Davenports are exactly as shown in the illustration—built on big, broad, substantial lines—frames of solid oak—with broad arms and heavy front posts—and upholstered with the finest quality Royal leather—a fabric that looks exactly like real leather and will wear even better, as it will never peel or crack, as genuine leather often does.

It Is Finely Tufted

as shown in the picture—richly upholstered over rows of best oil-tempered steel springs—and the entire construction, inside and out, is the very best in every way.

A Parlor Davenport

This Bed-Davenport presents the appearance of a handsome parlor davenport by day—and can be instantly converted into a full-size double bed at night—and has a large box underneath in which to store the bed clothes when not in use.

Operates Easily

It is almost automatic in action—opens so easily that a child can operate it—and being absolutely free from all complicated parts, will give a lifetime of service and never get out of order.

You Know the Value

You have seen and priced a high-class Bed-Davenport like this before—you know what it is worth—you will probably remember that the same style quality was priced to you in other stores at $25.00 or more—and you can readily appreciate what a wonderful value we are offering you this week at the price we name—only $14.75.

Sold on Credit

We could easily dispose of all these Bed-Davenports for cash at this low price—but we prefer to sell them on credit—we want to open up a great many new accounts—we want to interest more credit customers in this store—we want to see them here often in the hope that they will become steady patrons and will continue their account with us.

Note the Terms

In order that every one may share in this value we offer these Bed-Davenports this week for only $1.00 cash and $1.00 a month—the easiest terms we have ever named for a high-class article of this kind. Remember the davenport is delivered to your home immediately on payment of one dollar—and you can enjoy its comfort while you are paying the balance at the rate of a dollar a month.

TRENDALL MEETS COMING CHAMPION IN BOUT TONIGHT

Joe Mandot of New Orleans Has Beaten All the Good Boys in His Class Except K. O. Brown.

By JOHN E. WRAY.

JOSEPH MANDOT (if you want to be real French, pronounce the lawst syllable like "dough," the stuff all fighters are after), if he lives up to the boxing sample he showed at the Business Men's gymnasium Monday afternoon, will make one "Pride of the Patch," Harry Trendall, do some high and lofty stepping when the lightweight stars cross each other's orbits at the Coliseum Tuesday in the feature bout of the St. Louis Athletic Club's show.

For Joseph is "there" in the argot of Harry Cook's try-out parlors. In street regalia almost anyone who ever took a shy at a sheepskin would greet Mandot with the happy hand and ask him what brand of cigarettes they were using at college now. Good-looking, modest, with a leaning toward the "glad" in his raiment, Joe would pass anywhere for an inoffensive student. He appears to be nothing more formidable than a lightweight champion lecture shirker.

Mandot Clever and Strong.

But Joseph, stripped for business, is another person. He then discloses a fine physical conformation for a boxer, with good height and reach for his weight and all the 57 varieties of speed and punch needed to make a showing in the world. Mandot did a few moderate workout stunts to limber up Monday and he displayed enough to show that he is both clever and strong. He took on a boxer and a slugger in turn and dealt the cards according to the liking of each. He has a fine defense, but is a willing mixer and believes he can hit harder and faster and beat the other fellow to the punch.

Mandot's record indicates that he is correct in his belief. He is a growing boy, being yet under his majority. He is taking on weight and has been scrapping in the lightweight division less than one year. Since last September, when he fought his first lightweight scrap, Mandot has the following record:

September 18—Decision over Tommy Kilbane, 8 rounds.

October 29—Knocked out Milburn Saylor at New Orleans, 15 rounds.

November 20—Draw with Matty Baldwin, 8 rounds.

December 3—Decision over Grover Hayes at New Orleans, 20 rounds.

January 8, 1912—Decision over Billy Allen, 8 rounds.

February 20—Decision over Pal Moore, 10 rounds.

March 4—Decision over Young Jack Redmond, 8 rounds.

April 1—Decision over Owen Moran, 8 rounds.

April 16—Decision over Jake Abel, 8 rounds.

April 24—Ten rounds, no decision bout with Milburn Saylor at Indianapolis.

In Line for the Title.

Some of these victories are over the very best near-champions in the country. In fact the record suffices to place Mandot right in line for a bout with Ad Wolgast, whenever his manager, Harry Coleman gets ready to send his man after the title.

Mandot first began to interest followers of the sport when he went against that trial horse Matty Baldwin, at Memphis. In the East they say anyone who can go 10 rounds even up with Baldwin is worth a championship lookin. Baldwin is not quite a champion, but anyone who can shade him is very near to it.

Mandot got a draw with Baldwin and would probably beat the veteran if they met again. He had previously knocked out that good scrapper Milburn Saylor, he of the tremendous reach and cover-up defense.

Mandot Has Enviable Record.

Then Mandot began to go through the rest of the list of Western stars following up victories of Grover Hayes and Billy Alen by outpointing men like Pal Moore and Owen Moran, two of the toughest boys in the game. There is no question but that the young man is "there" with a big T.

Trendall, who meets Mandot, has had the best year of his career. None he has met has shown any edge over him, with the possible exception of Willie Ritchie, whose early lead in their Pittsburg bout was not quite overcome by the Pride of the Patch's good showing in the last two rounds. Trendall is slow to size up an opponent and this costs him many good marks in short contests.

Tonight the veteran of many a hard-fought battle will be up against the strongest opposition he has ever encountered, not even excepting his bout with Packey McFarland, at Kansas City, or that with Welsh, at Los Angeles. Welsh knocked out Trendall, on the latter occasion, but it was not the same Trendall Mandot will meet tonight.

Battle Will Be Fast.

Both boys are willing mixers and there is every reason to believe that the result of the contest will need no decision on the part of an official to determine the hair-line merits of the men.

Trendall has trained hard and faithfully at Riverside Park, and is in shape to risk his reputation in a title match. It is certain that Mandot will be hurt harder than he was by Milburn Saylor, when the latter held Mandot to a 10-round draw at Indianapolis recently.

Two other bouts are on the card. Sailor Jerabek meeting Battling Kelly in an eight-round semi-windup, while Frank Kuptz and Hi Oncher will furnish a six-round curtain-raiser at 8:30 o'clock. Harry Sharpe will be the East they say anyone who can go 10 referee.

TONIGHT'S BOXING BOUTS.

Mike Gibbons vs. Paddy Lavin, 10 rounds, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Johnny Kilbane vs. Frankie Burns, 10 rounds, at New York City.

Harry Trendall vs. Joe Mandot, 8 rounds, at St. Louis Athletic Club, St. Louis, Mo.

Young Labore vs. Kid Thomas, 8 rounds, at Newberry, Mass.

Joe Hyland vs. Young McDonough, 10 rounds, at Manchester, N. H.

"Beans" Prove Just a Light Lunch for Bresnahan's Reviving Wreckers

Going up! Game No. 3 of the current winning streak was bagged at the expense of the Beans, 4—3, in 11 frames, after Roger's rejuvenated Rogues had routed Otto Hess, the come-back southpaw, who last Friday flung a one-hit, one-run game against the Cubs.

Dickson, whom Kling secured from the Highlanders by waiver, relieved Hess in the eleventh session and is charged with the defeat. Dickson had lost Sunday's game, he going to Tyler's rescue in the eighth spasm. That makes two defeats in a row for Dickson, although he has pitched less than two innings.

When the bell rang, it was noteworthy that two come-back pitchers were on the firing line. Bob Ewing, ex-Red and ex-Phillie, was out to pull a Callahan. Hess is a repeater, but Otto made his mark in Chicago last Thursday when he nailed the Cubs to the mat, yielding narry a hit until the ninth frame. Hess came near repeating Monday, but Ewing lasted less than two rounds, Bill Steele, the Mighty Mountaineer, pottering for Ancient Bob.

'Twas a pretty nice game. All games won by the home club are nice games; but Tuesday's was just two innings nicer than the average, inasmuch as the ex-Wreckers didn't bag the bacon, short ribs or shoulder until two extra rounds had been tacked on.

Singley by Sweeney and Miller, and Evans' boot on Kirke's roller netted two runs for the Beans in the tenth. Then the Cardinals copped a pair of counters on singles by Koney and Hauser, a pair of sacrifices and Devlin's wild throw to first.

Ellis walked in the eleventh and came home on singles by Mowrey and Koney.

There was genuine reasons for rejoicing over Bill Steele's conquest. The Mighty Man yielded only seven hits in 9 2-3 innings. He doled out two passes, which is far and away below the average contribution of the Cardinal curvists. Indeed, Steele has demonstrated better control to date than any other man on Bresnahan's wrecking gang.

Steve Evans was removed in the tenth frame to let Arnold Hauser pinch-hit. Arnold bobbed up with a one-base blow that put the Cardinals in a position to claim the ultimate conquest. As a result of his safe knock, Pewee threatens to break back into the box score before the Brooklyn series is over.

Evans has a bad hand and that's the reel reason the Cleveland Comedian was taken out. Steve is unable to grip wood with his maimed mitt and he played Tuesday solely on his nerve. He muffed Campbell's screaming line simply because he could not put his ungloved fin to the ball. Steve's hand was hurt in a collision with the Cubs' grand stand in Chicago two weeks ago.

The Cards are speedily regaining their stride. Reb Oakes was in the midst of a fielding and batting slump a week ago. Now the clever clothing salesman is high and dry on the road to recovery. Some of his fielding stunts Monday were worthy of a drawing.

Steele had Devlin on his staff. Arthur fanned his last three trips to the plate.

Kling's wild heave to McDonald let Huggins score in the first inning, although a good throw by the Beans' Boss would have nipped Hug at third on the attempted double steal.

Two walks, a single and two steals was Hug's contribution. Mowrey nicked three singles while Koney worried along with two blows.

Campbell scored two of the beans' three runs. Vin's work on the defense also was better than on previous days.

Yeatman Plays Soldan Today.

Yeatman and Soldan will play off their game, postponed from Saturday, at Kulage's Park Tuesday afternoon. Yeatman has yet to lose a game and Trottner, the North Siders' star southpaw will be sent against Soldan.

Bill—Made a great discovery—the Loftis Credit System. Now you get the diamond.

HARMON DUE TO WORK; OPPOSED BY SOUTHPAW

PROCCEDING on the theory that the Cardinals are bonbons for southpaws, Manager Dahlen of the Superbas will send Frank Allen, a kithogue, secured from the Mobile (Southern League), team to the hurling hillock in the first game of the series at Robison Field Tuesday afternoon.

Bresnahan probably will rely on Bob Harmon, the big right-hander, who has been a bit off his stride so far this season. If Harmon fails to impress in the warm-up, Jakie Geyer may get the assignment.

Arnold Hauser may return to short Tuesday.

ANANIAS' TITLE IN DANGER.

THERE'S a new entry in the race for the title of champion liar. Up to two weeks ago it appeared that Ananias, one of the old school, and Baron Munchausen of the imaginative type, had the race between them. But coming up on the outside with a rush is a dangerous dark horse. It's the Robison Field score card.

NOT LIKE OTHER INDUSTRIES.

BASEBALL is a curious thing. Its promoters take more liberties with conventionalties than any other line in the world. And they get away with it. When you go to the theater you are given a program of the show, indicating the players, their positions and even an outline of the game as it is expected to be played. If you don't get one, you lift your voice, and the head usher comes at a canter to mollify you with the desired commodity. Either that or you leave your card with the manager, as you go out, and try to have the delinquent usher fired.

CHARGING TWICE FOR IT.

OTHER lines of endeavor also show some interest in bringing before citizens the line of goods they dispense. Some even buy space in the newspapers to tell you about the day's batting order bargains.

But a baseball magnate is different. After he gets your 75 cents at the front gate he wants to SELL you a description of the goods he is peddling.

NO SCORE CARD CORRECT.

And then, after you fall for paying to find out what you paid to see, you discover that what you purchased is incorrect, misleading or incomplete. And instead of hiring someone to correct the misinformation purchased by its patrons, the park management permits a surly official to ignore the public and the duties he is paid to perform by turning a broad and unresponding back on requests for information.

Can you beat it?

We repeat: IS IT POSSIBLE TO BEAT IT?

Do you get this, Messrs. Lynch and Johnson?

A SUMMARY OF CRIMES.

THERE is no known reason why a baseball club, which is now so far from being a sporting proposition that club owners withdraw their investments from other lines in order to sink the proceeds in new grandstands, etc., should neglect the fans who support it. As this paper has time and again pointed out, there are many sins committed by baseball park owners against the persons who support their ventures. Here are a few that time and an indignant public will see rectified.

Uncovered bleachers.

Score cards that must be bought.

Score cards that are incorrect.

Officials that do not announce batting order changes.

Lack of any announcers for pavilion and bleachers.

Bulletin boards that can't be translated without a key to the cryptogram.

Failure to flash the OFFICIAL decision on each play.

Permitting crowds on the playing field, necessitating ground rules.

Selling grand stand seats when there no longer are any.

Permitting obnoxious rooting, baiting of umpires and barrying of players from the stands.

There are other complaints to be entered, but these will do for the time being. Baseball, as exemplified by the major leagues has "got by" with all these things in the past. It was because the industry was new and in a formative stage and everything had to be learned. It is still new and club owners have much to learn, and it is for this reason that the fans still view with mildness the carelessness manifested toward them in dispensing the things they pay for.

But isn't it pretty nearly time that this big business known as baseball, which has been hiding under the mantle of sport, should come out in the open and do things for the comfort and convenience of those who support the game?

THE PUBLIC, FIRST.

If the League heads would quit worrying over a petty gambling that can never grow big enough to affect the integrity of the pastime and get down to perfecting the common conveniences offered to those who pay to see the game, they will be hewing closer to the mark.

Diamond Glints

Even Tesreau, a minor leaguer, backed by the Monarchs of the Lynch league, kept the Cubs from winning.

Joe Tinker is on the sick list, and Moore is showing at short for Chance.

Pitcher Jack Quinn of the Yankees has been indefinitely suspended for throwing his glove at Umpire Silk O'Loughlin. After Quinn chucked his glove, the fans flung pop bottles, and Quinn, in the eyes of Ban Johnson, was guilty of inciting a riot.

Irving Higginbotham, once a Cardinal, has been released by the Toledo (American Association) team to the Portland (Pacific Coast League) club. Irving is the greatest traveler among modern day athletes.

Among the familiar faces on the Superbas is Hub Northern, who two years ago was tried out by the Browns. Hub later took a whirl at fly-chasing jobs in Pittsburg and Cincinnati. Few men get four try-outs such as Hub has been accorded.

Art Phelan, the debutante third-sacker of the Reds, produced a triple that scored two runs for the Reds and gave Rube Benton the decision over Mr. Kent in a pitching duel, 3—1.

COAST CLUBS PLEDGE $2200 FOR OLYMPIC ATHLETES EXPENSES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Totals footed today show $2200 pledged for the expenses of Pacific Coast athletes to be sent to the Olympic games at Stockholm in addition to the $600 already forwarded to the National Committee in New York.

The Olympic Club of San Francisco heads the list with a pledge of $1000. Portland and Los Angeles each follow with $500, and the University of California and Stanford will each contribute $100.

From other sources $1000 more is expected.

WOMAN SWIMMER COVERS MILE IN RECORD TIME

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—The feat of swimming a mile in 33 minutes and 17 seconds, in a sixty foot pool, which necessitated eighty-eight turns, has given Miss Hester Rawley, daughter of a Philadelphia broker, a high place among young women athletes in this section.

The new record, which was made in a practice test, lops almost seven seconds from the best woman's record for the mile. Miss Rawley has started training for a 16-mile swim from Philadelphia to Chester, and hopes to accomplish it next July.

SHAKE-UP COMING AMONG TEAMS IN BOTH FLAG RACES

Clubs Off to a Bad Start Are Gradually Losing Early Hoodoos.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

PENNANT races in the two leagues should begin to shape up from now on. Things are topsy-turvy in the American, most fans holding the belief that the White Sox are traveling above their pace, while it's a certainty Washington does not belong up where it is. Then Philadelphia is not in exactly the proper spot.

In the National League there is more adherence to form. The Giants are out in front, pursued by the Reds. The Giants belong in front, but whether the Reds are legitimate runners-up is a much-mooted question. Indeed the Reds are in second place by virtue of their seven triumphs over the Cardinals, who really are not tailenders, as Tuesday's standing shows.

The Cards are regaining their stride. They will win more games than they will lose for the rest of the season, because Bresnahan has a better club than Boston or Brooklyn and a team well nigh as strong as Chicago and Cincinnati.

Cards Twirlers Recovering.

Cardinal pitchers are just showing signs of life. With the lone exception of Bob Harmon, every curvist on the local club showed a vast improvement in his last out. Steele's last two games were corkers. Sallee pitched good enough to win his last three bouts, but he bagged only one of them. Then Joe Willis surprised even himself Sunday.

Harmon figures to get going. When the warm weather comes to tarry Bob will be hobnobbing with the best flingers in the parent body. He has few superiors in the Lynch League and sooner or later he will hit his proper stride. Then he will win a heap of games for the local nine.

Chance Shifts Cubs.

Yes, Bresnahan's club is just coming to life, while there are signals of distress flying from the Boston, Brooklyn, Chicago and Philadelphia crafts. Manager Chance at last has announced a change which the fans thought would be made long ago. He has benched Edgar Lennox, switched Zimmerman from first to third and Hofman from center to first. Ward Miller, a Cincinnati discard sought last season by Col. Hedges of the Browns, will perform in center.

When the Cubs made their first appearance here, it was pointed out in these columns that Lennox never would do at third. Also that Zimmerman was shy at first. Heine has a habit of going after plays that belong to Evers and the pitcher and leaving the bag uncovered. The Cardinals won one game from the Cubs in Chicago because Heine twice left the initial sack unguarded.

"Artie" Finished First-Sacker.

On the other hand, Hofman is a finished first sacker while Zimmerman can worry along at third. But these frequent switches in Chance's lineup only is a confession of weakness. The Cubs are not the Cubs of Old. The old machine has creaked while Brown, the backbone of the pitching staff for eons and eons, also is retrograding. And if the Cardinals ever get going under full steam they may beat out the Chicago entry.

Popular belief is that the Reds will fall back. Also that the Phillies will climb. But Dooln's club has disapponted so frequently that the wiseacres are losing interest in the "best team, on paper." McGraw's club is playing to form and winning, but well nigh all the other clubs in the National League started with the wrong foot—notably the Cardinals who do not belong in last place.

Roger Nearly Ready.

Three victories in a row of Boston should be a great boon to the sick and injured athletes on the local club. These conquests have brought Bresnahan back into uniform. Roger will be ready to work by the week end while Hauser hobbled into harness Monday. Pewee pinch-hitted in the tenth and started the Cards on their winning rally.

Evans is hitting and so is Ellis. Koney always did and probably always will hit. But because of the wrecked lineup there has been no unity of attack, no concerted effort. All these things will come once Bresnahan gets back and Roger will soon be on the job.

Brooklyn calls Tuesday for a four-game series. Then the ill-fated Phillies will be entertained. The outlook is roseate.

Local Giants Beat Brooklyn.

Charley Mills' St. Louis Giants trimmed the Brooklyn negro team, 8—3, at Athletic Park Monday afternoon. Wade pitched for the locals, opposed by Crawford and McNair. Another game will be played Tuesday with Lanford and Johnson as the local battery, and either McNair or Crawford and Webster working for Brooklyn.

Score card, here, they're neat and quaint—
Names of the players, and where they ain't!

DOLLY GRAY HAS NOTHING ON BOSTON.

Good-by, Boston, you must leave us;
How we hate to see you go!
And the parting, it will grieve us,
For we always loved you so;
With three straight we went a-humming—
Now you hike for other scenes—
Hark! I hear the Brooklyns coming,
Farewell, Boston "Beans!"

Behold! the bridegroom cometh!
Brownie chorus from the cellar: "Gee, but it's fine to be home again."

The Cubs have just been shaken up. The Browns have just been shaken down.

When the Duke is away the Cards don't play. When the Duke is well the Cards play like—the dickens.

If the pitchers don't pitch they get canned. If the batters don't hit they get fired. No matter which way the cat jumps, somebody receives it in the collar button. Aye, 'tis a cruel world.

Bushelman pitched and the Browns were in a peck of trouble.

Umpire Forgets to Keep Count On Bean Batter

Has to Ask Scorer How Many He Had Called on Ben Houser.

Hats off to Jimmy Johnstone, the Hon. Ump in charge of field affairs at the Britton baseball pasture these days. Jim pulled a pair of good ones Monday, which may be set down briefly:

In the second inning, when Bill Steele was called in to rescue Bob Ewing, Jim turned to the stands and warbled:

"Bliss catching for St. Louis; Bliss."

Bliss had been in the game since the bell tapped and Johnstone was quick to see his mistake. He choked a laugh and corrected himself, to wit:

"Steele now pitching for St. Louis."

In the fourth inning Johnstone lost the count of balls and strikes on Ben Houser. After the Beans' first baseman had fouled off one, it dawned on Jim that four balls had been pitched. But he didn't make any rash decision. He quietly strolled back to the press box and asked the official scorer. When informed that Houser deserved a walk, Jim motioned the man to first.

This caused the fans to giggle, but the scribes felt deeply honored by Mr. Johnstone. The umpires who were here last week refused to speak to anybody and never during the series did they announce the changes of pitchers.

More umpires would profit by emulating Johnstone's antics instead of being stubborn about their decision. Jim's all to the bonbons.

"YOU only paid $50 for that diamond?"

"Yes, it's a bargain, and the Credit Plan, too, $5 month, at Loftis Bros., 308 N. 6th."

LONG REST PUTS BROWN PITCHERS IN BAD CONDITION

Five Idle Days in Week Breeds Lack of Control Among Hurlers.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sporting Staff.

BOSTON, May 14.—Not until Old Sol goes on the job regularly, permitting the Brownie twirlers to engage in a lot of work will the team begin to show its real ability. Games are being frittered away because the twirling has been wretched. Inferior slab work since the club left home has caused the dropping of the Browns to eighth place in the American League standing.

The club doesn't belong there and as soon as the pitching improves, way will be made in last place for some other club. That better pitching will be the rule is expected. That's because youngsters Elmer and Charley Brown, George Baumgardner as well as veterans like Earl Hamilton, Nelson, Powell, Pelty and Lake have proven that they can pitch when climatic conditions are agreeable.

But four days' vacation in New York put the Brownies on the blink. Lack of work has caused the pitchers to lose control. The enforced vacation also caused the batters to temporarily lose their hitting ability, although the players hit well in yesterday's burlesque with the Red Sox.

Baumgardner in Good Shape.

George Baumgardner is the only one who has not been seriously affected by the layoff. George twirled a fair game last Friday against the Yankees after resting more than two weeks. He lost, 3—2, in a tough contest, although he showed some effects of the failure to pitch regularly. He had his accustomed steam, but because he hadn't worked in turn he didn't have a good curve ball, one of his best assets.

The same goes for the others. When they get the ball over the plate it is invariably slammed safely. Then lack of work finds the Brown hurlers with no control.

The infield and outfield of the Browns are improved over 1912 and at times have shown ability to score more than enough runs to win the average game, but the pitching has been poor when the batting has been good.

Team in Batting Slump.

Recently the club has been in a batting slump. But yesterday's game, lost by the jokish score of 14—9, would indicate that some of the swat makers have regained their eyes. This was especially true of Frank Laporte, one of the real suggers of the club, who hasn't been able to hit a balloon. It was really appetizing, from a St. Louis standpoint, to see Laporte slug the ball yesterday. He got three hits in five trips to the pan, each off a different twirler. That surely looks like a good sign.

Manager Wallace sent four different twirlers to the hill in an effort to stop the scoring of the Red Sox. Still they all failed, and even though the Brownies tallied nine runs, more than enough to win nine out of ten ball games, the tallies went to waste.

The fielding of the Browns at times, especially that of Eddie Hallinan at short, was bad. But the errors made on batted balls should not be held against the Brownies. They were made on a field that looked as if it had just been plowed preparatory to the planting of corn or oats.

As told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Manager Wallace took a much-needed vacation. His leg is badly swollen, the result of the injuries in St. Louis two weeks ago. He says it feels as if a 50-pound weight is tied to the member, when he walks. Despite Hallinan's many errors yesterday, they wouldn't have been made on a good field—the Native Son will probably continue at the place a day or two longer, or until Wallace feels that he can do himself justice at the job.

CAPITAL IS $30,000,000

Advocates Remedial Loan Associations to Aid Borrowers at a Low Interest.

In an address before the City Club, Tuesday afternoon, W. N. Finley of Baltimore, chairman of the National Federation of Remedial Loan Associations, told his hearers that the loan sharks of the United States could pay for the Panama Canal in two years without impairing their capital.

The annual profit of these usurious money lenders, he said, it had been found by the federation's investigation, amounts to more than $300,000,000 on the $30,000,000 which they have invested in the business.

If the loans were made on an equitable basis, Finley said, the lenders would make a profit of not more than $2,000,000 a year.

Finley advocates the establishment in all large cities of remedial loan associations, with reputable business men as financial backers, to loan money to deserving persons at low rates of interest.

Hopelessly Involved.

Until recently, Finley said, many corporations have unwittingly aided usurious money lenders by posting notices that employes against whose salaries claims should be filed by money sharks would be summarily discharged. These notices, he said, were the best possible collection agencies for the money lenders. Rather than be discharged, an employe would borrow from one lender to pay another, and thus eventually get himself hopelessly involved.

Six of the greatest railroads in the country, Finley said, have rescinded these notices, as have also the principal telegraph and telephone companies and other big corporations.

Opportunity Overlooked.

Business men everywhere, he said, should realize that for years they have overlooked an opportunity to do a great constructive work by forming funds from which persons who need money may obtain it without being forced to pay usury.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS' REPORTS OF THEIR SALES

The John S. Blake & Bro. Realty Co. reports the sale of property, 4000 Cook avenue, 25x162.6, improved with a two-story seven-room brick dwelling, with reception hall, bath, hot and cold water, granitoid basement and laundry, Dutch dining room, beamed ceiling and plate rail, parlor hand decorated; large stable.

Mrs. Margaret Murphy to John J. Hanley for a home.

Geo. J. Wanstrath reports the sale yesterday of a lot 50x156 feet on the west side of Hiernia avenue, near the corner of Carter avenue, for the Federal Investment Co., to the Hoepfner Investment Co. for $1750. Hoepfner has already started to improve this ground with modern brick cottages under the supervision of Wanstrath. They will be put on the market by him.

The Greer Real Estate and Investment Co. reports the sale of 3738-40-42 Garfield avenue, between Spring and Prairie avenues, a double buff brick building, containing six flats of three rooms each on lot 54x130 feet, renting for $54 per month, for W. D. Grant to a client, who exchanges the property as part pay and purchased for investment.

Albert Wenslick reports the sale of 48 feet on the east side of Vernon avenue, between Neosho street and Itaska street, for a depth eastwardly of 150 feet, to Thomas F. Knittel for $1075. The purchasers will improve immediately.

C. P. Brandle & Son.

C. P. Brandle & Son report the sale of 3910 Jamison street, a two-story and attic tile roof brick dwelling and bungalow store. It contains eight rooms, tile bath, hot-water heat. This house is finished in hardwood throughout, with oak floors, fixtures, copper screens and downspout, brick and tile porch; lot 30x80x120 feet. It was sold from a client of Hildebrand-Wandell, Inc., Belle Brandle, who bought for a home. The consideration was $6850.

Also sold 4145 South Compton avenue, a two-story brick dwelling of six rooms, bath and furnace on lot 27.6x127 feet, from J. A. Helderle to William C. L. Kegel to Kegel to J. A. Helderle, for $1500.

O. H. Brooks Jr.

The O. H. Brooks Jr. Realty Co. reports the sale of 4052 Flora boulevard, the handsome home of John J. O'Brien, to George A. Brenner, who presented the property to his wife. The house contains nine rooms, a large solarium, hot-water heat, elegant hard wood floors, tile bath and separate toilet. The reception room, living room and dining room are all connected by large pillared openings. The lot is 50x125 feet. The Braziers will occupy it about June 1.

NEW YORK ISSUES BONDS

State Will Offer at Public Sale $25,950,000 on June 6.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"In most respects today's stock market duplicated yesterday's. Taken as a whole, the market showed no disposition to move in either direction; but the bidding up process was applied at intervals, either to the few stocks which are controlled in a speculative way by the active group of manipulators, or else to such usually inactive shares as could be advanced with no great expenditure of energy.

"In stocks like Reading and Lehigh Valley, which were active yesterday, there were signs of profit-taking today. This may have been because of the market's singular attitude towards the expected commodity clause decision of the Supreme Court.

"There are presumably left only two more decision days before the court adjourns for its summer vacation; hence the interest on each successive Monday.

"But inasmuch as the speculators declare that the stocks concerned, in case of a decision for the companies, will rise because of their victory, and that, in case of an adverse decision, they will rise because of expected segregation profits, it is hard to see why the market should be deeply concerned.

Money Market Quiet.

"As a result of the drafts drawn against foreign credits, some of the prominent Wall street banks had today little or no money loaned on call in London, and a greatly reduced volume of time loans outstanding in Berlin or other foreign markets.

"Some banks apparently anticipated the maturity of their loans, in order to fortify their reserve position in preparation for the offering of state bonds. There was only an insignificant demand for money in the Wall street loan market, but the large number of pending bond issues made many banks disposed to keep most of their funds within reach on call, notwithstanding the low rate and limited inquiry for such accommodation.

"Interior banks drew against their New York balances, but the shipments of currency were below the volume of last week, and it looked as if the outflow to Pacific Coast points had for the moment subsided.

"A good deal of interest was shown in the arrangements to sell the $25,950,000 issue of New York State 4 per cent bonds, which will be offered at Albany on June 6. Owing to the fact that this is an extremely large issue of state bonds, and because of the inducements held out to banks wishing to act as depositories of state funds, the forthcoming operation will be watched with great interest.

Market News Scarce.

"News that was really news was lacking today. The miners' convention met at Wilkesbarre and proceeded to deliberate with the formality of a constitutional convention. Voting on the question of compromise with the companies may not therefore be immediate.

"The Government, in its Weekly review of weather in the crop belt, resumed the collection of mutually contradictory data which sometimes make these bulletins as mysterious as a Delphine oracle. In the main it showed that the past week was favorable for the crops, but the continued delay in plowing and planting is unpleasant.

"Tomorrow being the last day for filing the answer of the banks to the Money Trust Committee's inquiries, the question of the scope of that body's inquisitorial powers may come up for discussion in an interesting way. Just now the main division of opinion in and out of Congress seems to be whether such an inquiry ought or ought not to be projected into the turmoil of a presidential campaign. Even among the supporters of the investigation there are those who consider that policy to be both unwise in itself and prejudicial to the propet purposes of the inquiry."

Canadian Pacific Strong Feature in the London Trading.

LONDON, May 14.—American securities opened steady with prices around parity. Prices advanced during the early trading under the lead of Canadian Pacific, and noon the market was steady with values ranging from ¼ to a point higher than yesterday's New York closing.

Later U. S. Steel spurted and the rest of the list scored additional gains. Denver & Rio Grande shares were weak exceptions. The Virginia Railway 5 per cent gold bonds offered here were well subscribed for and were quoted from par to a premium of ¼.

COTTON MARKET IS STEADY AFTER SOME EARLY SELLING

NEW YORK, May 14.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2@6 points and early trading, in response to lower Liverpool cables, a fairly good demand map, scattered liquidation and local pressure. The market, however, proved a little less favorable than looked for, and the market during the middle of the morning was active and firmer, with price about 5 to 7 points higher on covering and buying support.

Offerings became heavier on the advance, and after selling about 6 to 7 points net higher, the market reacted a point or two in the forenoon under realizing and a renewal of local selling.

Prices at midday were still from 5 to 6 points net higher, however, and the tone of the market was steady on the anticipation of a bullish Government report early next month.

The market showed increasing firmness during the early afternoon, and it seemed that the fear of a bullish Government report early next month was increased by favorable private crop advices from the central belt. Prices sold about 15 to 16 points net higher on covering and local support. The closing was steady.

Spot quiet; middling uplands, 11.65c nominal.

WOMAN, ONCE IN JAMES GANG, DIES A CHURCH WORKER

Mrs. Delia Fox Whose Own Rifle Had Brought Down Many Men, Expires Penniless.

MEMOIRS FOUND IN TRUNK

Recalls Stirring Scenes in Which Missouri Outlaw Figured—Last Cent for Charity.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Mrs. Delia Fox, a demure little woman, who had been a resident of Asbury Park, N. J., for the last six years, during which she devoted all her time and money to religious work and the care of wayward girls, died penniless in the Long Branch Hospital Saturday night. Her last money went to the family of a workman who was killed by a fallen electric wire in Asbury Park two years ago.

Mrs. Fox was noted for her devotion to religion and many of those who knew her said of late years she had lived a saintly life. When it was found that she had died without leaving a penny, her friends immediately subscribed to defray the funeral expenses.

As a matter of routine her effects were examined today. From that almost superficial examination of belongings supposed to be valueless have come revelations that have astounded the woman's friends.

Memoirs in Old Trunk.

Mrs. Fox left in an old trunk memoirs covering her early life, a life which for wild, desperate deeds of daring, recklessness and lawlessness, is probably without a parallel among her sex. She was the widow of the notorious Texas Charlie Fox, once a Government scout, but later one of the most vicious of the Jesse James gang of outlaws. Although the memoirs are incomplete—death having stopped her hand—Mrs. Fox intimates that she was the companion of Jesse James on many wild rides and deeds of daring.

She was born Delia O'Neil, 61 years ago, and came to America from Scotland when she was 15 years of age. She was placed in a religious institution—where, she does not say—to be educated. When there she met "Texas Charlie," who fascinated her by his daring ways and stories of adventure. She eloped with him and made a tour of the West, visiting many mining camps. On this trip all her youthful illusions were shattered. She plunged into the wildest dissipation to drown her remorse. Gradually she developed a liking for the rough, romantic life of the West and learned without terror that her husband was the secret agent of the James gang in disposing of booty. Mrs. Fox says in her story:

"My first acquaintance with Jesse James was in the wineroom of a Pueblo Colo.) theater, where he had come under no disguise but that of an assumed name, to meet my husband. We also met him at Duffy's Hotel, Memphis. With all his faults, Jesse was true to his friends. Once, in a grave mood, I asked: 'Boys, have you no fear of hell?' 'There is no hell,' said Jesse. 'like a guilty man's conscience, but what can we do about it? We're in for it now and can only face the end.'

Hunted Like Beasts of Prey.

"The James boys were Ishmaelites. All murders and robberies were charged up to them, even when they were hundreds of miles away, and gradually their hands were raised against every man. They were hunted like beasts of prey.

"Sometimes we scattered after a successful raid or hid in the woods together, sleeping with boots on and revolvers buckled tight. Sometimes the men dropped out, riddled with bullets, or went into some other business. Recruits were constantly coming in, however, but not with the encouragement of Jesse.

"When the Ford brothers, the treacherous assassins of their leader and protector, made application to be initiated into the clan, Jesse tried his best to persuade them to embark in some legitimate business. This fact was known but a few who stood close to the lit king. Jesse later warned the is of the dangers of such a life the difficulties in the way of ever coming free men, even revealing his in bitter regret that he could not form.

"It was unavailing, and he then administered the terrible black oath. That set sealed his fate and theirs. To save their own necks from the halter and to gain the $10,000 reward offered by Gov. Crittenden of Missouri they planned the assassination. A veiled woman opened the negotiations with the Governor which resulted in their Judas-like betrayal of their leader to death, when, on April 3, 1882, they shot him at St. Joseph, Mo., where he lived under the name of Thomas Howard.

Had Shot Many Men.

"During years of murderous raidings and concealment in fortified swamps and mountain caverns I learned to handle firearms to perfection. With shame and sorrow I confess that more than one luckless fellow mortal tumbled at the crack of my rifle. When the gang was finally disbanded I went with P. T. Barnum's circus as a sharpshooter. I was billed as Mrs. Jesse James and was the champion woman sharpshooter of my time."

Through a Bible stolen from a reading room in Dallas, Tex., which she carried despite the protests of her husband, Mrs. Fox became converted and for nearly 20 years has been an active Christian worker.
